W. W. DENNETT OF MOREY SCHOOL SEEKS $850 IN BACK PAY

Brings Second Action Against City in Connection With His Fight to Be Reinstated as Master of Greenhalge Evening Grammar School.

William W. Dennett, headmaster of the opinion filed by the justice, the writ was denied and petition dismissed because of the unreasonable length of time which elapsed before it was begun.

John M. O'Donoghue, member of the law firm mentioned, said this morning that his firm had been retained by Mr. Dennett to reopen the case from this new angle and will attempt to secure for him pay for the evening sessions of the past two years. Papers had not been served at the city treasurer's office up to this afternoon, but will be served, it was said, either late today or early tomorrow.

SEC. SLEMP NOT TO RESIGN

Reports of Retirement Because of Break With Butler at Convention Denied

WASHINGTON, June 16.—C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, announced in a formal statement today before leaving for Cleveland, that he had not resigned his present position and would continue actively to be associated in the republican national campaign.

The formal statement was issued by the persistent reports of the likelihood of Mr. Slemp's retirement before leaving for Cleveland, that he had not resigned his present position and would continue actively to be associated in the republican national campaign.

The disagreement between Mr. Slemp and others on the one hand and Mr. Butler, Frank W. Stevens and their supporters on the other, was generally noticeable after the adjournment of the convention, but President Coolidge, after hearing both sides, was able to bring about a reconciliation of views.

HELD IN $2000 FOR MANSLAUGHTER

David Billson of North Chelmsford, driver of the automobile which struck and killed Fred White of Trull road, North Tewksbury, last Saturday night, was arraigned in district court on a charge of manslaughter this morning, and was continued in $2000 for two weeks.

Billson is foreman for H. E. Fletcher of Westford and was driving Mr. Fletcher's machine when the accident occurred near Harlan avenue, off Andover street, about 10:20 o'clock Saturday night.

The driver told the police he was blinded by the lights of oncoming machine and did not see the White until it was too late to apply the brakes. With the aid of Chester Daniels and Joseph Shields, the injured man was rushed to St. John's hospital, where he died a short time after arrival.

$2,000,000 IN DRUGS SEIZED

Narcotics Were Secreted in Handles of Five Thousand Scrubbing Brushes

Two Men Who Claimed Cases Containing Drugs Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, June 16.—Drugs valued at more than $2,000,000 were seized last Saturday on a truck coming off a pier at Hoboken, N. J. it became known today. H. D. Esterbrook, chief of the special agents of the treasury department, who conducted the raid, said the seizure uncovered one of the most elaborate schemes for smuggling narcotics into the United States.

The drugs were secreted in the handles of five thousand scrubbing brushes. The cases in which they arrived had been watched since the steamship President Roosevelt docked, June 9, Mr. Esterbrook said.

On Saturday the treasury agents saw two men claim the cases and load them on a truck, which was seized as it started off the pier. The men, who gave their names as Abraham Palowitz and Otto Anderson, both of New York, were arrested.

14 PERSONS DIE IN STORM

Tornadoes, Windstorms and Heavy Hail and Rain Hit the Northwest

Glad Valley, South Dakota, Virtually Wiped Out—

Property Damage $100,000

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 16.—At least 14 persons are reported dead and more than a score injured as the result of tornadoes, wind storms and heavy hail and rain in the northwest, Saturday night.

Eight persons were reported dead at Bijou Hills, Brule county, two at White Lake, Aurora county, one at Pierre and one at Pleasant Hill, South Dakota, while two men were reported swept into the Mississippi river at St. Paul. Glad Valley in Seibach county, South Dakota, was reported virtually wiped out when a tornado struck over a territory of 50 miles square and caused probably a score of injuries and property damage which may run over $100,000.

At Mitchell, four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, and property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Ancient Landmark Sold for a Song

Historic Marshall Tavern—relics of Colonial days, rich in fragrant memories of cherished associations in the realms of Lowell's "first families" of the long ago—was sold for a song at auction last Saturday afternoon. Jacques Boisvert, local contractor, bid $400 and will be the new owner.

Bidders were few and far between; indeed, attendance at the widely-advertised auction of house and valuable furnishing contents of relatively local historical values, was very small compared with similar auctions conducted on historic locations in Lowell and vicinity in former days.

Auctioneer J. J. Flanagan of Concord conducted the sale of the old tavern property and contents, the estate of the late Hannah M. Sculding.

Mr. Boisvert is not prepared at this time to say what will be done with the tavern property. He has bought it for investment.

LONDON, June 16.—Parliament reassembled today after the Whitsun vacation with the prospect of long and arduous sessions and small probability that the government will carry out several legislative measures to which it is committed.

The chief debate this week will be on former Premier Baldwin's resolution giving effect to the imperial preference proposals of his government. This is likely to occupy Tuesday and Wednesday. The government ministers are meeting today to decide which of their bills shall be pressed for action.

Local Physician Fined in Narcotic Drugs Case

confined in a jail hospital and has been unable to discuss the case until today.

Attorney James E. O'Donnell represented Dr. Klinlin in court today. The principal witnesses for the government were Lieut. Arthur Kentling and Officer Frederick Cole of the state police, and Seret. Michael Wm. and Officers William Liston and Francis Moore of the local police, who arrested the defendants on May 27 last after securing evidence of narcotic violations.

Lieut. Kentling, on the witness stand, testified to conducting an extensive investigation of alleged illegalities in the prescribing and distribution of narcotics in this city. Co-operating with the local authorities, he said, a three-weeks' campaign led to the arrest of the local doctor and the Lawrence couple.

Several prescriptions, signed by Dr. Klinlin and bearing his official registration number, were found on Mr. Buckley's person and in many Lowell drug stores. They had been cleverly altered and raised, most of them from 12 grains to 24 grains of morphine. It was discovered, said the witness, that the original prescription, written in Roman numerals XII, had been changed to read XXIV, or 24, an additional X being prefixed, and the final letter altered to look like a Y. Lieut. Kentling's testimony was substantiated by State Officer Cole and by Seret. Wm. and Officers Liston and Moore.

Seret. Winn stated that Dr. Klinlin told him the Buckley's were patients of his. He admitted, said the sergeant, that he had prescribed narcotics for them under the name of Buckley, Anderson and Townsend. He is said to have admitted also that he bought twelve hypodermic needles in a local drug store for $1.50 and sold them for $5.

"The state is trying to wipe out the awful consequences of this drug," said Judge Ewing in finding the physician guilty. "I'm going to help them by imposing sentence commensurate with the offense."

The fines were paid.

A graduate of the Notre Dame academy, and State Normal school of Lowell, she had been a teacher of high standing, and for the past three years taught in the Collinsville grammar school, Princeton, where through her kind disposition and genial ways she had endeared herself to her fellow-teachers and pupils alike. She was the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Fitzpatrick Fox and her mother, who is now the only survivor, has the sympathy of all who knew her.

REYNOLDS—Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, widow of Bernard Reynolds, a well known resident of Pawtucket, died Saturday afternoon. She was an attendant of St. Rita's church. She is survived by one son, George B.; four daughters, Anna G. and Grace V. Reynolds, and Mrs. Esther E. Bernard; one brother, Michael J. McHugh; and two grandchildren, George J. and Patricia M. Bernard.

SHEMIAN—Jeremiah C. Shemian, a former resident of this city, died Saturday afternoon in Boston. Besides his wife, Gertrude he leaves a daughter, Ellen; one brother, James Shemian of Pennsylvania; four sisters, Mrs. J. J. Mahoney and Mrs. Elmer Paulster of this city, Mrs. John S. Bradford and Mrs. Fred J. Cleary of Brockton, and several nieces and nephews. The body was removed to the home of his sister, Mrs. John J. Mahoney, 71 South Whipple street, this city, by Undertaker Hitzig Bros.

MURKIN—Frank W. Murkin, for the past 50 years a resident of this city, died Saturday afternoon at his home, 19 Bonne street. He is survived by his wife, Rita E. Merrill; three daughters, Miss Madeline Merrill, Mrs. Bessie R. Statley and Mrs. William M. Booth; three sons, Joseph J., Charles and Paul B. Merrill; two sisters, Ella Wetherell of Boston, and two grand-children.

RHEAULT—Victor Rheault, a piano member of the Immaculate Conception church, died this morning at his home, 30 Bartlett street. He has been a resident of Lowell for many years. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Marceline (Bachet) Rheault, two daughters, Miss Lauda Rheault and Mrs. Bella St. Cyr, and one son, Joseph A. Rheault, and four brothers, Messrs. Georges and Joseph Rheault of Lowell and George and Alfred in Canada. Pauline, his daughter, Mrs. George Ouellette of this city. Arrangements in charge of Undertakers Begley & Begley. Funeral notice later.

BOUDLARD—Many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Boudlard will regret to learn of the death of their daughter, Hermine, which occurred yesterday at St. John's hospital, after a short illness, aged 8 years, 6 months and 3 days. Besides Hermine, she leaves one sister, Cecilia, and two brothers, George and Gerard Boudlard. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 53 Perkins street, and will be buried at the home of her parents, 153 Perkins street, 1 month and 5 days.

"KNOW NOTHING" PARTY RECALLED

Sectarian Issue Plays Leading Part in Maine G. O. P. Gubernatorial Fight

Sen. Brewster, Candidate for Governor, Would Bar State Funds for Sectarian Schools

PORTLAND, Me., June 16 (By the Associated Press)—For the first time since the days of the "Know Nothing" party, sectarian issues have played a conspicuous part in the campaign for the republican nomination for governor, which will be made at the state-wide primary elections today.

The candidates for the nominations are Frank G. Farrington of Augusta, president of the Maine senate, and Ralph O. Brewster of this city, a member of that body. They have been devoting all of their time to their campaigns for several months, and both at one time or another have visited nearly every section of the state.

Although candidates for a United States senator, four members of congress, a state auditor, members of the legislature and county officers will be nominated by the republican and democratic parties, interest in the gubernatorial contest has overshadowed all other contests.

Bar Funds for Sectarian Schools

Senator Brewster has based his campaign on his sponsorship of a proposed amendment to the state constitution, forbidding the appropriation of state fund for sectarian schools.

President Farrington has opposed the amendment proposed by Senator Brewster on the ground that it is too sweeping, in that it would prevent the granting of state aid to many academies in Maine which serve as free high schools in the sections where they are located.

But the merits of the avowed issue have received less attention than the religious prejudices and animosities that have been aroused during the campaign.

K.K.K. for Brewster

The Ku Klux Klan organization, which is reputed to have considerable strength in the state, has openly declared for Senator Brewster and, although he has disavowed inviting its support, the fact has created bitterness which may be carried into the state election in September, whenever he may be nominated.

Former State Attorney General William R. Pattengill of Augusta, is unopposed for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. In fact, the democrats have no contests, except for the nomination for representative to congress in the second district, the contestants being Bertrand G. McIntyre of Norway and Albert W. Plummer of Lisbon.

In the same district, the republicans also have a congressional contest. Representative Wallace H. White, Jr., of Lewiston, is opposed by Cyrus N.

Blanchard of Wilton, who became a candidate when he announced he would not seek renomination and did not withdraw when Mr. White later decided to enter the primaries.

Senator Bert M. Pernaud of Poland, who would like to serve another six years, faces two contestants, former Congressman Frank E. Guernsey of Dover-Foxcroft, who contends that western Maine should not have both senators as residents, and Louis A. Jack of Lisbon.

Elbert D. Hayford of Farmington, the incumbent, and Edwin J. Morris of South Portland, are candidates for the republican nomination for state auditor.

Congressmen Reedy, Nelson and Hoxsey will be renominated without opposition. The unopposed candidates for the democratic nominations in their districts are William M. Graham of Portland, assistant secretary of war in the Wilson administration, Leon G. Peabody, mayor of Waterville, and Clinton C. Stevens of Bangor.

Fulton J. Redman of Ellsworth, will receive the democratic nomination for United States senator without a contest. Almon G. Hodgkins of Rumford, will be nominated by the democrats for state auditor.

ALUMNAE OF NORMAL SCHOOL HOLDS BANQUET

The Alumnae of the Lowell State Normal School held their annual banquet and meeting of the school Saturday at which time members of the class of 1899, the first to be graduated from the school, were banqueted.

"The Pied Piper," the masque presented by the students of this year's classes on Friday, was repeated for the Alumnae.

Previous to the banquet the "Lambs" of '22 and the "Kids" of '23 gave three rousing shows for the class of '99. Principal Clarence M. Weed then welcomed those present.

Among the speakers were Miss Laura A. Knott, member of the faculty of '99; Mrs. Atwood, a graduate of the class of '99; Mrs. Armstrong and Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of the local schools.

Among the members of the class of 1899 present were Mrs. Florence Parker Atwood, Mrs. Kathryn Jansen O'Connor, Mrs. Gertrude Dacy May, Mrs. Alice Richards Jenkins, Mrs. Elizabeth Heyward Hildreth, Mrs. Agnes Colburn Allen, Miss Elizabeth Dane, Miss Mary Devine, Miss Ella Penn and John Barr.

The following alumnae officers were elected for the coming year: President, Gertrude Doherty; vice-president, Elizabeth Cummings; treasurer, Katherine Cornell; secretary, Katherine Farley; executive committee, Rose Cunningham, Katherine Moriarty, Helen Welch and Rita Killey.

Those in charge of the affair were as follows: President, Marie Dempsey; vice-president, Mary Flinn; treasurer, Margaret Garvey; secretary, Mary Killey; Executive committee, Irene Cotter, Irene Kline, Mary Egan, Mary Early and Katherine Farley.

LOWELL OUTFITS IN BRIGADE INSPECTION

Lowell national guardsmen participated in annual June brigade inspection yesterday at Methuen. Battery B, 102nd Field Artillery, was commanded by Captain George J. Flanue. First battalion headquarters detachment and combat train were led by Lieutenant Ariston K. Barrows. Headquarters battery and Battery C of Lawrence, participated in the inspection.

Brigadier General Richard K. Hale of the 31st Brigade, Field Artillery, was in command of the inspection ceremonies, assisted by the following staff: Colonel Ernest Redmond, 102nd Field Artillery; Captain Hodge, adjutant of the First battalion; Captain George Lawson, regimental adjutant of 102nd Field Artillery, and Lieutenant Philip Smith, 31st Artillery brigade.

A MARTYR PRIEST—REV. M. O. GILBRIDE

(By P. H. Jackson, Abington) He lived for his God, meekly human. He walked in the way that is just in all his career like a true man. He guarded his God-given trust.

None know him in life but to love him. Whenever, wherever the call His faith in the Master above him Proclaimed his true friendship for all.

In high chosen fields of endeavor He wrought with inincible will. He never turned backward, and never permitted his ardor to still.

Ah! his was a heart of rare beauty. Serene though the danger was high. Undaunted discharging his duty He died as a martyr can die.

The prayers of the thousands appealing Ascend to the great Throne above. With none but the tenderest feeling of filial devotion and love.

May he who has passed from our vision Receive the great gift of renown. From him whose unchanging devotion awards the perpetual crown.

LOWELL TYPOS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

The Lowell Typographical union yesterday installed new officers, heard from the report of the financial secretary that it has reached a new high mark in strength of membership and finances and named Fred T. Brown and Cleveland K. Nobles to represent the union at the New England Typos' convention, to be held in Concord, N. H., June 23, 24, 25.

Fred A. Speel, president of the New England organization, was again installed as president of the local union. The list of other officers follows: Vice-president, Thomas J. Durkin; secretary-treasurer, Joseph M. Reilly; recording secretary, Frederick T. Brown; executive committee, Joseph Duggan, Nathaniel W. Matthews, Jr., Cleveland K. Nobles, and William J. Flanagan.

ST. ANNE'S TROOP WINS SCOUT MEET

The Boy Scout rally held Saturday afternoon in the state armory was won by Troop 10 of St. Anne's church with Troop 17 of the Grace Universalist church second. Troop 5 of the Centralville M. E. church third, and Troop 1 of Dracut fourth.

The rally had been planned to be held on the South common but the place was changed to the armory owing to the heavy rain. Prior to the rally the scouts, headed by the Chinese scout bugle and drum corps of Troop 2 of Jamaica Plain, marched from Cardinal O'Connell parkway through the down-town streets to the armory. The armory program consisted of emergency carrying races, first aid, fire building without matches, signalling, and other scout duties.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 20

Right in the main pathway of the big tent was a great mattress. And at one end of it stood several barrels. As soon as the circus dogs saw this they ran, one after the other, and jumped over the barrels and landed on the mattress. And all the time they were barking loudly.

Each time that every dog had made the jump another barrel was added. Finally one of the dogs missed the jump. He landed on top of the barrel, instead of clearing it, and he fell toward the ground. The dog man rushed out and caught him so he was not hurt. This dog stopped jumping.

The jumping lasted for some time, until only one dog was left. He was the best jumper of them all. Then the dog man told Jack to have Flip try the jump. "Oh, you'll have to take some of the barrels off," said Jack. So the pile was made smaller and Jack took Flip back a ways. (Continued.)

Mothers!! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Stop it at that instant with a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have prevented real sickness. Mrs. Ida Williamson of 1637 Pine St., Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. Lou Brawley of Self, Ark., never became ill in the family because of their prompt use of Syrup Pepsin.

senine with pepsin and desirable aromatics, and so appreciated that it is now the largest selling preparation of its kind in the world, over 10 million bottles being used annually. The formula is on every package.

Three Rules of Health

Purchase a bottle of Syrup Pepsin at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest. Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who is a practicing physician for 47 years and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients and which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT THREE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Pupils of St. Patrick's, St. Peter's and St. Michael's Receive Diplomas From Pastors of Respective Churches—Special Programs Are Features

Graduations in three of the local Catholic parishes were held yesterday with impressive ceremonies attended by appropriate sermons and the conferring of honors by the pastors of the parishes.

At the 11 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church celebrated by Rev. Joseph A. Curtis, the boys of St. Patrick's school, under the supervision of the Xavierine Nuns, and the girls directed by the Sisters of Notre Dame received their diplomas from Rev. John J. McGarry, D.C.L., pastor of the church.

Following the conferring of honors, Dr. McGarry addressed the congregation mentioning the fact that so many young people were receiving recognition at the conclusion of their grammar course so diligently followed under the loving direction of the religious communities of the parish.

In speaking to the graduates Dr. McGarry urged them to continue their excellent work throughout their entire schooling and asked that they would go through life with the same fervent love of God, the same ideals before them and the loyalty and willingness shown by them while students of St. Patrick's parochial schools.

The list of graduates: George Bowden, Frederick Buckley, William F. Buckley, Edward Clark, James Conroy, John Delehanty, John Doherty, Hugh Duffy, Edward Dunn, Paul W. Fawcett, Joseph Fox, George Foley, James J. Gagnon, Leo Gendreau, Joseph Gauthier, William J. Hornbrook, Alexander J. Kelleher, Bernard J. McEntee, Daniel J. The ushers were Messrs. B. D. Ward, Richard O'Malley, Charles Sullivan, James O'Neill, Elias Mealey, Ernest Baron and Joseph Howe.

ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

Rev. John J. Shaw presented the diplomas to the graduates of St. Michael's parochial school at the exercises held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the church.

In speaking to the graduates, Fr. Shaw congratulated them for their splendid showing both in and out of class and urged them to continue their work in the spirit shown during their years at St. Michael's.

Rev. James F. Lynch also addressed the graduates, complimenting them for their excellent work during their schooling and especially in the past year, and wishing them the highest success in whatever work they undertook, whether in the furthering of their education or in the working world.

Following the presentation of graduation honors, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Shaw, assisted by Rev. Fr. Lynch and Rev. Fr. Heaney.

Young men graduates of St. Patrick's school were the ushers at the church.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL
At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Peter's church several pupils from the parochial school received their diplomas at appropriate ceremonies held in the church.

The altar and sanctuary were handsomely arranged with roses, carnations, smilax, greenery and palms. Innumerable candles illuminated the main altar, while the side altars were also prettily arranged with cut flowers and palms.

The young girls, gowned in white dresses of the same style with hats to match, and the boys in dark blue suits, made a most impressive scene as they filed to the altar steps where they were handed their diplomas by

The "American Woman" was also awarded to the above pupils.

The "Scholarship Medal," merited by the following pupils for year's work, was awarded the following:

BACKYARD PLAYGROUNDS

Handball Game for Father, Son

BY W. C. BATCHELOR
Handball is a game in which father and son can play together. Dad can break his big boy act about the age of 10 or 12. Almost any back yard will provide ample space for a court.

Any flat wall, either wood or brick, with a free space of level ground adjoining, will do. The court may be any size, but in general rubber balls may be used.

The following proportions should be followed: The wall space should be four-fifths as high as it is wide, and the court should be two and one-half times as long as the wall is high.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Yesterday, Trinity Sunday, was observed in all the Catholic churches of the city, and in two instances, at St. Michael's and the Immaculate Conception church, the 40 hours' devotions were brought to a close at the high mass.

About 150 little children of St. Patrick's parish received their first holy communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning celebrated by Rev. John J. McCarthy, D.C.L. Following the mass breakfast was served at the first communicants in the refectory at the Academy of Notre Dame. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the children were enroled in the popular following: Mass, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held, Rev. Joseph Curran officiating.

On Sunday evening next the graduation of the pupils of the Immaculate Conception parochial school will be held at Keith's theatre. Rev. James McCaffrey, O. M. I., formerly of this city, and now of Alton, Canada, a visitor here, was the celebrant of the 10 o'clock mass yesterday morning.

The graduates, complimenting them for their excellent work during their schooling and especially in the past year, and wishing them the highest success in whatever work they undertook, whether in the furthering of their education or in the working world.

Following the presentation of graduation honors, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Shaw, assisted by Rev. Fr. Lynch and Rev. Fr. Heaney.

Young men graduates of St. Patrick's school were the ushers at the church.

ST. MICHAEL'S SCHOOL

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Peter's church several pupils from the parochial school received their diplomas at appropriate ceremonies held in the church.

The altar and sanctuary were handsomely arranged with roses, carnations, smilax, greenery and palms. Innumerable candles illuminated the main altar, while the side altars were also prettily arranged with cut flowers and palms.

The young girls, gowned in white dresses of the same style with hats to match, and the boys in dark blue suits, made a most impressive scene as they filed to the altar steps where they were handed their diplomas by

The "American Woman" was also awarded to the above pupils.

The "Scholarship Medal," merited by the following pupils for year's work, was awarded the following:

The Dutch Colonial home building design is one of the most popular with prospective home owners.

This style of architecture is attractive in exterior appearance, while the interior is so arranged that there is plenty of light and ventilation, the rooms are of good size and conveniently arranged. The broken roof lines and the dormer windows at the front and back give the home the appearance of a much larger house.

OPERETTA AT SACRED HEART SCHOOL

"A Golden Gift," a pretty and entertaining operetta was given last evening by the junior pupils of the Sacred Heart school in the school hall before an audience which filled the auditorium. The pupils, 100 in number, included students from the first to the sixth grade inclusive and their ability in performing numerous dances and sketches was shown in their presentation of a varied and interesting program.

DEGREE FOR PASTOR OF HIGHLAND CHURCH

Rev. Everett E. Jackman, pulpit pastor of Highland Union M. E. church since the death of the former pastor, Rev. Joseph P. Kennedy, was graduated today from Boston University School of Theology, class exercises being held in Boston Symphony hall.

The gospel student and teacher, now splendidly equipped for the duties of his calling in religious fields of the future, was born in Eastern, Neb., and has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church since he was 11 years of age.

In the western part of the country, he served at one time in charge of a Rockford, Neb., church; attended Nebraska Wesleyan college three and a half years. Coming east in 1920, he entered Boston University School of Theology in 1921. In April, 1922, he was appointed leader of the Highland Union church as "Supply."

Pastor Jackman's sermon yesterday morning in Highland Union M. E. church was drawn from the text, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." He described the probable origin of the day, tracing it back to Babylonian times, as some students of religious history believe. Others trace it to the early Jews, as they are believed to have been the first race to really give the day a religious significance.

The pastor declared that there are three purposes of the Sabbath day: The first is worship; the second, rest; the third, brotherly love. All who remain away from church for the sake of amusing themselves, are missing the first great purpose of the Sabbath, the pastor continued.

"The second great purpose of the Sabbath, brotherly love, should not be

PROGRAM FOR WEEK AT THE COMMODORE

Large crowds have been enjoying the Commodore dancing parties and the past week has been the most successful since its opening. Miner-Doyle's orchestra will play tonight and there will be check dancing from 8 until 12. The admission will be 10 cents, with 6 checks for 25 cents.

Tomorrow, Mal Hallett's orchestra will be the attraction at the Commodore but "Mal" will be among the missing, as he is to be initiated into the Haverhill Lodge of Elks. The other members of the celebrated team will be present and will play for dancing during the evening.

Wednesday night, Miner-Doyle's orchestra will be back on the job and on Thursday, Hallett will be present to lead his orchestra for the evening's program.

St. Peter's Cadets will sing their annual Rose party and dance at this hall on Friday night and on Saturday evening, the customary check dance will play on both these evenings.

forgotten. If the people who spend the day racing around in their automobile, endangering life, or playing ball in a country village where other people can have no peace—had the spirit of brotherly love, they would not do those things," he declared.

TEACHERS EAGER TO ENROLL IN VARIOUS EXTENSION COURSES

Director Moyer of State Department of Education Says

125 or More Here Have Been Prompt to Take Advantage of Opportunity

During the last school year over 125, in these days the progressive teacher enrolled in state extension courses which are designed especially to improve teaching in the public schools, according to a statement made by James A. Moyer, state director of university extension. "People often remark," said Director Moyer, "upon the rapid progress pupils make in the grades, as, for instance, in reading and related studies, when compared with the progress made in school days of their grandfather's time. The difference is due not so much to superiority of intelligence in the younger generation as to improvement in teaching. It is a fact well known to the public that teachers generally have had their salaries considerably increased during the last few years. A fact that is not so generally well known is that since having their salaries increased teachers in great numbers all over the state have taken up professional improvement courses in order to make themselves better worth their increased compensation. Such action is commendable in either private or public service. It has always been granted that there is an art of teaching;

Under the leadership of Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy, the teachers of Lowell have taken several extension courses of an intensely practical character. Another such course for teachers is applied psychology and is to be given on Monday during July at the Lowell high school. The purpose of this eight lesson course is to give the teachers an idea of the latest developments in applied psychology as it relates to the problems of the school room. The course will be of interest not only to the elementary grade teachers but also to high school and evening school teachers.

Prunk O. Kreager of the Harvard Graduate School of Education will be the instructor. Professor Kreager has had wide experience in conducting classes for teachers in connection with his former positions as superintendent of schools and head of vocational school in the state of Washington. He was formerly professor and extension lecturer in educational subjects at Washington State college. Among the top-

FORMER DRACUT BOY ON MISSISSIPPI NATIONAL WOMEN'S TRADE UNION LEAGUE

Philip Clark, a former resident of Collinville, was one of the crew of the battleship Mississippi who was killed when a gun exploded prematurely during battle practice off San Pedro, California, Friday.

Clark formerly lived at the Whetton farm in Collinville and was very well known among residents of that district. His body was buried this morning in San Pedro, California, and a requiem mass for him was celebrated this morning at St. Mary's church, Col- linsville.

Professor Kreager plans to discuss during the course his habit attention thinking, will and moral development the normal child, the gifted child, individual differences, the unstable child and adolescence.

Enrollment in the course in applied psychology may be made at the first meeting, which is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, July 7, at the Lowell high school. It is planned that the class will have two sessions on each Monday, at 3:30 and again at 7 o'clock, and that each session will last one and three-quarter hours, which is equivalent to two lectures of standard college instruction.

The teachers in Lowell and nearby cities and towns are invited to attend the first meeting in the course in applied psychology. Information regarding this course may be secured from Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, or by writing to James A. Moyer, Director, 217 State House, Boston.

NEW MANAGER AT THE McCORD DRUG STORE

Mr. William J. Gilcrest of 48 Forest street, today assumed the management of Mrs. Sam McCord's Drug store, corner Merrimack and Shattuck streets.

Mr. Gilcrest is well and favorably known in the local drug trade, having been prescription man for the H. E. Butler Drug Co., Middlesex street, for the past thirteen years. Previously he served in a similar capacity with the P. J. McCormick drug firm, Harvard square, Cambridge.

Mr. Gilcrest is particularly well qualified, through experience and temperament, to discharge the responsibilities of his new position, and his many friends throughout the city join in wishing him success.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES' INCREASE

The postal salary bill was vetoed by President Coolidge and congress made no attempt to pass it over the veto. Therefore, to all intents and purposes the measure is dead, but the postal employees are entitled to the increase proposed in the bill and even more, so that the movement will not be allowed to end where a republican president and congress left it at adjournment. It will be taken up in the short session of congress in December and will be passed in spite of the presidential opposition.

President Coolidge was playing the political game quite as much as the members of congress and to offer a show of consistency in his policy of economy, he vetoed the bill providing for an increase for the postal employees. There was a rider attached that may also have influenced him in his decision. It provided for a more strict limitation of expenditures by candidates for office than is required under the present law. The republicans did not want this as it might hamper the agents who are collecting funds for the campaign—the "fat-fries," as they were called in the days of Mark Hanna.

But regardless of why the bill was defeated, the just demands of the postal employees still persist, and they will henceforth be pressed with more vigor than ever. One of the best methods of making assurance doubly sure is to elect the democratic ticket in November. Then the republicans will consider the question on its merits rather than from the standpoint of the candidate appealing to the country for votes.

LA FOULLETTE'S CONVENTION

July 4 this year will have more than usual political significance. It is the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence in '76, but on that date a conference of national importance will be held at Cleveland, O., for "Progressive political action." It is at this conference that Senator La Follette and his adherents will formulate the policies on which they intend to appeal to the country in behalf of the election of an independent candidate who will doubtless be Mr. La Follette himself. He made his demands before the republican convention, but they were rejected.

Should he become the head of an independent ticket and meet with favor in the states which he might expect to carry, his candidacy might throw the election of president into the national house and thus be a very embarrassing problem for both parties. It is expected, however, that the senator's political strength would be drawn mainly from the republican party and thus the chance for a democratic victory would be increased.

In their convention which is to open at New York on June 24, the democrats will adopt progressive policies, and in all probability will nominate a ticket that will appeal to the country as best calculated to restore prosperity and promote honest government along the lines laid down by Thomas Jefferson and represented in recent years by Woodrow Wilson.

FAKE SCHOOLS FLOURISH

A recent investigation conducted by the national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, with which the Lowell Advertising club is closely affiliated, proves conclusively the existence of a host of alleged "civil service schools" which promise to qualify candidates for government positions, and which are nothing but fakes of the first water. A joint warning against the fake advertising of so-called civil service coaching schools, was issued on June 12 from Washington, addressed to the nation at large by the United States civil service commission.

The commission calls attention to the following facts that ought to be read by all informed men and women who have ever been approached via the United States mails to become "students" in "civil service correspondence school" always located in a distant section of the country.

No school of this kind has any connection with the civil service commission at Washington, or any other branch of the government.

No school can give advance information regarding government examinations.

No school can furnish civil service information of value which can not be obtained without cost from the civil service commission at Washington, or its representatives at the post offices or custom houses in any of approximately 3,500 cities, including Lowell.

No "school" can "guarantee" appointment in the classified civil service. Appointment can be secured only through open competitive examination under the civil service rules. No school can cause a competitor to be certified for appointment out of the regular order, as determined by his examination rating.

It is alleged that many of the fake schools working through the mails, accept money from practically illiterate persons of both sexes, who could not possibly pass even the simplest examination. Some of the fakers are promising verbiage to make a proselytizing man of a laborer in a few weeks' time.

One of the most striking cartoons published in connection with the Cleveland convention showed Senator Lodge holding aloft with a cane and holding by a rope tied to the tail of the big elephant representing the republican party. It was a true conception of the senator's relation to his party in the Cleveland convention.

The Flag Day address by Louis A. Coolidge at the Auditorium Saturday evening was highly patriotic and instructive. In relation to the flag and the constitution. But for the rain, it would have been heard by a much larger audience.

It is believed that the election of M. Doumergue, president of France, will result in an early stabilization of the government and the restoration of normal political conditions. There is no danger of ultra radicalism continuing menacing power under the present regime.

If we have incendiaries in our midst, every effort should be made to find them in jail. We have had several fires of suspicious origin within the past few months.

The glaring headlamps are still with us and still causing accidents. The opposite evil of no lights at all is equally dangerous. Both form a combination that is a serious menace to the public highways.

At Melo's friends have taken care to see that he will not be short of change while contesting for honors in the Olympic games. He has already brought honor to Lowell.

Still the list of mayoralty candidates grows. The voters should have a sufficient number from which to select a competent executive.

The Masquerade

An Englishman said to his chum: "Lent me five shillings, old fellow, I am going to a swell masquerade ball tonight. Only mythology characters will be allowed and I must rent a costume." "I guess you can scrape up five shillings," admitted his friend. "What character are you going as?" "King Midas."

A Bone to Pick

Joe Smith met his pal, "Eddy, in the street." "Edd," he said, "I've got a bone to pick with you." "Well, what is it?" asked the other. "I see you've been saying things about me." "And 'oo told me that?" "Why, Bill Jackson told me you told 'im I pinched that check wot you lost." "I never said nothin' of the sort. All I said was that I thought I might ave found it if you hadn't bin helping me to look for it."

A Compartment House

"Children do make the most amusing errors," chirped Miss Amanda, a schoolmarm of the old school. "I requested my children to state in writing what sort of houses they live in. This little girl says she lives in a compartment house. What a quaint mistake, to be sure."

"I wouldn't be too quick about calling that a mistake," Miss Amanda, counseled a younger teacher. "At least I would inspect the house before marking that little girl's paper."

You can purchase most anything in them, except drugs.

A Forgotten Apology

One of the many good stories Dame Nellie Melba is fond of telling concerns a drawing room concert she once attended. The host was nervous and inexperienced, and at the end of a long with which one of the guests had "dolled," he rose hurriedly. "Ladies and gentlemen," he babbled, "before Mrs. Smith started to sing, she ab told me her ab voice was not in the best condition and—she—asked me to apologize for it, but I neglected to do so and—ah—I apologize now."

Playing It Safe

A politician of the cautious type was up to his ears in trouble when he came upon two cowboys. The cowboys had been awakened from a long sleep and were disputing about a dim light in the sky. Was it the sun or was it the moon? One cowboy held to the sun theory, the other was a moon advocate, and on the politician's appearance they agreed to lay their case before him and abide by his decision. The politician listened carefully to the cowboys' arguments pro and con, and then he shook his head. "Ain't got nothin' to say, boys," he muttered. "I'm a stranger in these parts."

Love's Young Dream

"Go!" she exclaimed. "Never speak to me again!" He passed out into the unsympathetic night but paused when he reached the pavement and did something from one of his inside pockets. As he did so the girl who was watching him from the front door, uttered a shrill scream and ran toward him. "Friend," she cried, "what would you do? Do not kill yourself! Throw your revolver away and let us forget our quarrel!" "It isn't a revolver," he replied, as he caught her in his arms: "It's a spanner I borrowed from you the day my bicycle broke down. I've been wearing it next to my heart ever since." Then they returned to the drawing room and took up the thread of love's young dream where it had been broken.

Notes Were Mixed

A young man whose gallantry was in excess of his pecuniary means, sought to remedy this defect and to save the money required for the purchase of expensive flowers by arranging with a gardener to let him have a bouquet from time to time in return for his cash. One day he received a bunch of roses which he at once dispatched to his lady love.

Madals were presented the following night by eight scouts from Scout Executive Eddie Melo, Everett Melodeon, Arthur Wells, William Trout, Warren Vanderbilt, Wendell Ersen, Smith Eason Barlow, Richard Gray and John Lambert, assistant scoutmaster.

A beautiful American flag was presented by the local Scout council by Gilbert W. Hunt, and state and Scout flags as well as the honors won in the Scout games Saturday afternoon, were presented by Charles A. Hosmer.

Mr. Coolidge was introduced by Chairman Stearns and spoke in part as follows:

"Around this day there cluster glorious memories, proud memories which sanctify this state of ours, for on this day 141 years ago, John Adams, whose chop that he is today, directing traffic in the then Merrimack square. A tall chap, well proportioned, he could be seen standing there day in and day out, regardless of the weather, guiding automobiles and pedestrians through the square—and to his great credit let it be said there never was an accident of serious consequence when he was on duty there."

A friend of mine, a resident of Malden, in speaking of traffic officers several years ago, placed "Eddie" Connors at the head of his list for the most efficient and most accommodating officer. This man has driven automobiles ever since the days of the "horseless wagons" and has met about every variety of traffic officer in existence, in naming "Eddie" or Sarge. Connors, as we must now say, he chose him because he was good-natured and also because his signals were clear and assisted greatly in keeping things moving along as they should.

With his occasional matinee from some who were not so well off, Eddie Connors' isn't it cold?"

But whether it's Summer or Winter, Man is never content with his lot. And now we shall hear folks complain: "Eddie, it isn't hot."

Mr. Winter was gossiped and shivered.

With the young men fell old, with the occasional matinee from some who were not so well off, Eddie Connors' isn't it cold?"

But whether it's Summer or Winter, Man is never content with his lot. And now we shall hear folks complain: "Eddie, it isn't hot."

And the young men read, "Don't for the old timers you promised me the other day."

WHAT THE RADIO DID

WHEEE! WHIRR! WENT THE BIG BORN

All the green woods people were dressed up in their Sunday best at Mister Coon's party.

It was a most fashionable party, and Nancy and Nick and the little fairymen were proud of the coon gentleman and his new radio set.

Oh yes, it was Mister Coon's new radio set that the party was about. Everybody had come to hear a concert.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mister Coon impishly, getting up in the middle of the floor where a little square box with a big horn was sitting on a table. "I will now tune in. We shall hear a concert that is going on in New York."

Everybody clapped and Mister Coon bowed and then he pushed in some knobs and pulled out some knobs and turned a thingamabob.

"Wheee! Whirr! Squeee-see-ee-rattle-rattle-rattle! went the big horn, or rather, they were the sounds that came out of it."

"My!" said Mrs. Muskrat to Mrs. Groundhog. "They do have queer voices in New York, don't they, Mrs. Groundhog?"

"It isn't just right yet," said Mister Coon. "The air isn't right."

"No, I'd say it wasn't exactly right," grinned Mister Bunny nudging Old Daddy Cracknits. "I've heard a good many alibis, but none exactly like that."

Mister Coon pulled out some more knobs and pushed in some other knobs and the little lights went blink and suddenly there was a shriek like the 9 o'clock curfew whistle.

"Oh, oh, oh!" shrieked the green wood ladies, covering up their ears. "That must be grand opera! Such loud singing makes up deaf. Do they ## Mothers!

Give the children WRIGLEY'S
after every meal

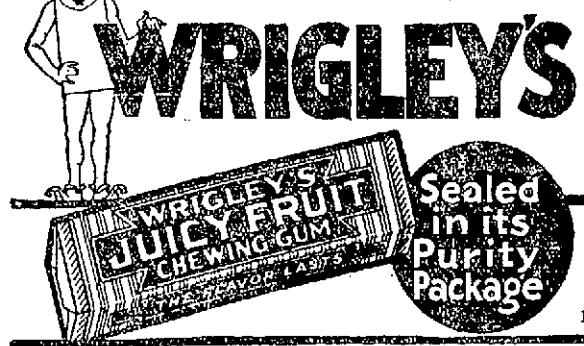

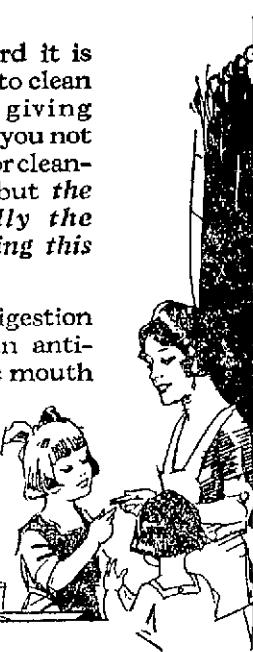

A prominent physician says:

"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

WRIGLEY'S aids digestion too, and acts as an anti-septic wash for the mouth and throat. Several flavors—all of WRIGLEY quality.

OPEN GOLF GRIND HARD

ON CHAMPION

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Cyril Walker is the smallest player to win the open golf championship since 1908 when half-pint Freddie McLeod strode on to victory at the Myopia Hunt club. Walker is even smaller than McLeod.

Walker came through mainly because he was hitting his shots well and did not have to "fight" for his scores. He was not often in trouble, and the blustery weather gave him only a modicum of trouble. Walker's game is built essentially on wrist action and the secret of playing in gusts such as existed at the Michigamme course, is all wrist control.

This is one reason why a midget weighed 127 pounds at the start of the championship. After he had run down the winning putt on the seven-second green at Oakland Hills he weighed 115 pounds. In two days, then, he dropped six pounds. That gives you an idea of the terrific strain the golfer faces in the $50,000 championship." A bigger man, a man of the Ted Ray type—would have dropped about twenty pounds.

Walker was able to survive in a battle where stamina and endurance are all-important factors. Walker didn't cave in at the knees, as most of the little fellows do. The course had something to do with this. While in a three-day test, Yuma, Ariz., only has 18 cloudy days

Walker Best "Wind Shot" Player

By JOE WILLIAMS

DETROIT, June 16.—Because Cyril Walker, midget New Jersey professional, knows how to control a shot a roistering gale, he is the new open golf champion of America. Walker was born in England and spent his boyhood days caddying for sunny Ball, Sandy Herd, Harold Hilton and other notables on the wind-swept, seaside courses, where very shot demands rare judgment and an advanced technique.

It is one thing to play a golf shot in a dead calm. It's quite another to play the same shot in the teeth of a howling wind.

On the day of championship finals at Oakland Hills the wind roared across the fairways with cyclone fury. Simple iron shot holes became hard, testing wooden drives. Balls hit high into the air were wafted far off the line and carried deep into trouble.

Beating par was no longer the big idea. Beating the elements was much more important.

Weather Suited Walker

This was the kind of weather Walker revelled in up to his sunburned ears. It was English golf weather. Years ago, back on the homeland courses, Walker had mastered the art of playing with and against gales. It was no trick for him to keep the ball high, and sail with the wind, or keep it low and offset wind resistance.

Walker won the championship with a blazing iron shot to the short green in the afternoon round—one of the great shots of American golf, by the way. Only a few moments before, Walter Hagen, the American home bred, a heavy favorite to win, had tried the same shot and failed. This one episode told the whole story of Walker's triumph.

The sixteenth at Oakland Hills is a par 4 hole, 381 yards long, and on the day of the final, with the wind blowing a gale directly in the face of the players, was the hardest hole on the course. A lake of considerable proportions faces the green. It is over this lake that the second shot must be played.

Hagen Couldn't Do It

Hagen got off a tremendous drive under the circumstances, and was left with full iron shot to the green 160 yards away. If he could plough through the wind and get home safely he would still be in the fight for the title. But the wind whirled him. His ball was short. It dropped into the lake and he was through.

Walker's drive was no better than Hagen's but just as good. Here he was facing the same test that had ruined the American star. If he got home the championship was his; if he failed it might go to Bill McIlhorn or Bob Jones, who were already in with low scores.

Walker didn't fail. His old training and the nerve served him nobly. The ball carried strong and true and dropped him high nine feet from the hole. He had judged the wind perfectly and played the shot like a master. It won him the title.

GRIMES HARD TO DOUBLE-PLAY KINGS TELL

TROUBLE ON TEAM

By N.E.A. Service

BROOKLYN, June 16.—Burleigh Grimes won 21 games for Brooklyn in 1923. He was one of the dozen or so pitchers to get into the 20 figure class. Incidentally he was the best gunner on the Robinson staff.

Grimes has been with the Dodgers six seasons. He came to the club from Pittsburgh in 1918. He was traded along with Ward and Almanau for Stengel, Cusick and Cash. Grimes had previously been on the Pittsburgh roster two years.

In the half dozen campaigns Grimes has toiled for the City of Churches, he has built up an enviable record.

In five of these seasons he turned in better than 20 victories, generally figuring as a good performance in these days of lively baseballs and heavy hitting.

In another campaign he missed the coveted mark by one game; in still another he was only four tilts shy.

Thus far in his best year in Brooklyn he has either hit or come close to hitting the 20-game standard.

Grimes had his best year in 1923, the season Brooklyn got the tall left-hander. Grimes had 19 victories against but nine defeats. In 1920 he was the big虫 in bringing the Dodgers their first pennant. He won 23 and lost 11. Brooklyn took two trays in the world series with Cleveland that fall. Grimes won one of them.

Were Grimes with a one-two-three aggregation his hurling performance would be even more formidable. It would stand out to much better advantage. And he would doubtless rank pretty close to the top in the pitching averages.

USING THE RIGHT CLUB IMPORTANT

By JOE WILLIAMS

It is one thing to know how to play a golf shot. It is another to know what club to play it with. This may not be as silly as it sounds. The one is a matter of mechanics, the other of judgment.

And in matters of judgment the golfing mind is not always errorproof. Whether a shot should be played with mashie niblick or mashie, brassie or full iron frequently forms a problem requiring more than momentary thought.

The stronger club may send you too far, the lighter club may leave you short.

And the element of doubt thus created is almost sure to play hob with your confidence, with the result that a bad shot is inevitable.

We saw a splendid example of what unerring selection of clubs will do for an ordinary player's game at Inverness, several years ago.

J. K. Wadley, a lumberjack from the southwest, played a sociable round with Jim Barnes, the noted professional, the day before the open championship started.

Wadley is an 85 player or thereabouts. This day he was hitting his shots fairly well, and undoubtedly might have scored decently even without Barnes' help. But he had Barnes' help and he had it at times when perfect judgment was needed most.

This was in the selection of clubs on second and third shots to the green. Whenever there was any doubt Barnes made the decision and his decisions, naturally, were always pretty good.

Well, the result was Wadley gave the stiff Inverness par a terrible thumping instead of his customary 55. Wadley was closer to the par line, due partly to some excellent shots of his own, but mainly to Barnes' expert advice.

This incident does not exactly point a moral but it at least shows that hitting the ball perfectly is only one part of the game.

Answers

1. In judging the distance between the knee and shoulder, major league umpires always take into consideration the batter's stance. If a batter naturally sits his shoulder high, the umpire regards the height of his shoulder when in a crouch position, as the proper line, rather than where it would be if he stood up straight. If in a pinch a player purposely crouches with a hope of deceiving the umpire, the official renders his decision based on the batter's height if he stood in his usual position at the plate.

2. The base runner is supposed to return. Often the umpire starts play when he is a few feet away in an effort to hurry matters. The umpire after a foul never should start play until the runners are satisfactorily placed.

APPROVE G. O. P. PLANK
ON WORLD COURT

GENEVA, June 16.—(By the Associated Press) The pronouncement in the republican party's platform regarding the world court has evoked numerous declarations of satisfaction from the delegates of the 50 nations foregathered here for the international labor conference, which begins its sessions today, and from the statesmen of many lands who are here either as members of the council of the League of Nations or as diplomatic observers of the proceedings of the council.

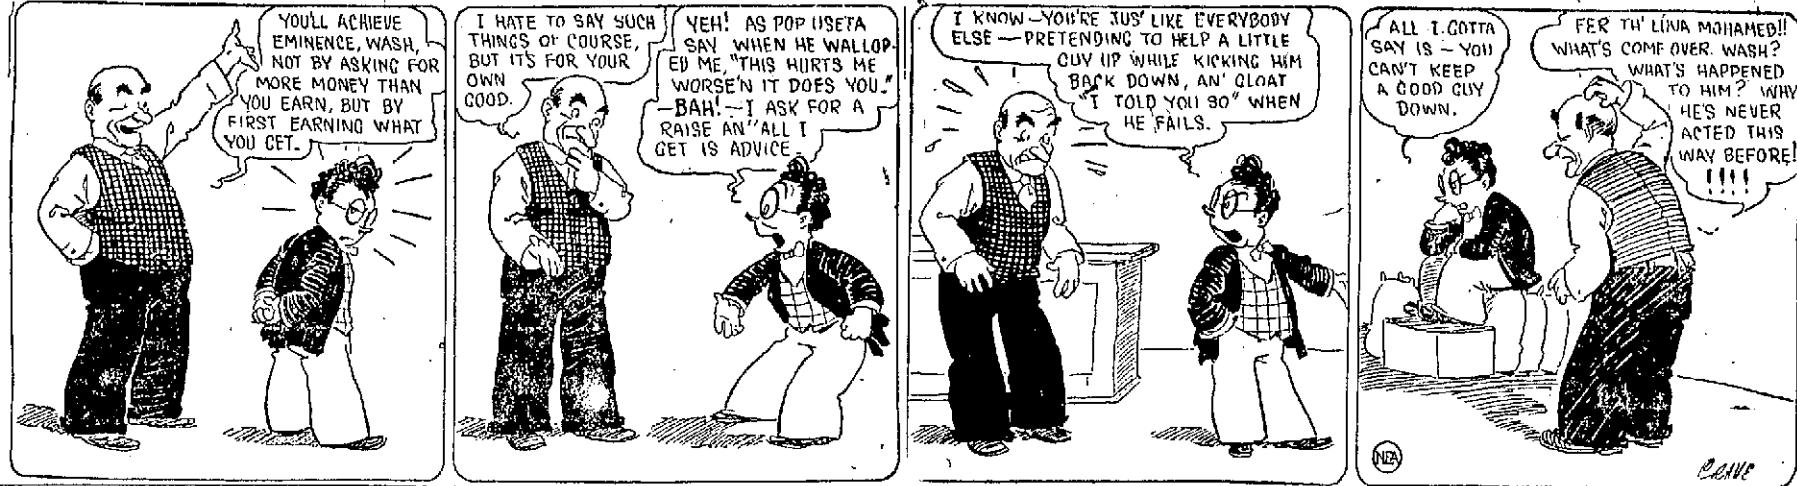

The gist of the opinion expressed is that ... development in American political life indicates increased co-operation with Europe. This participation is looked for in the future, even if the United States does not join the League of Nations. The nomination of Brig. Gen. Charles S. Dawes for vice-president is interpreted by some persons as proof of this trend.

The Coolidge-Harding world court projects are regarded as entirely acceptable to the present members of the world court of justice, just as the Pepper plan and the Lodge project are described by some of the delegates and observers here as entirely unacceptable.

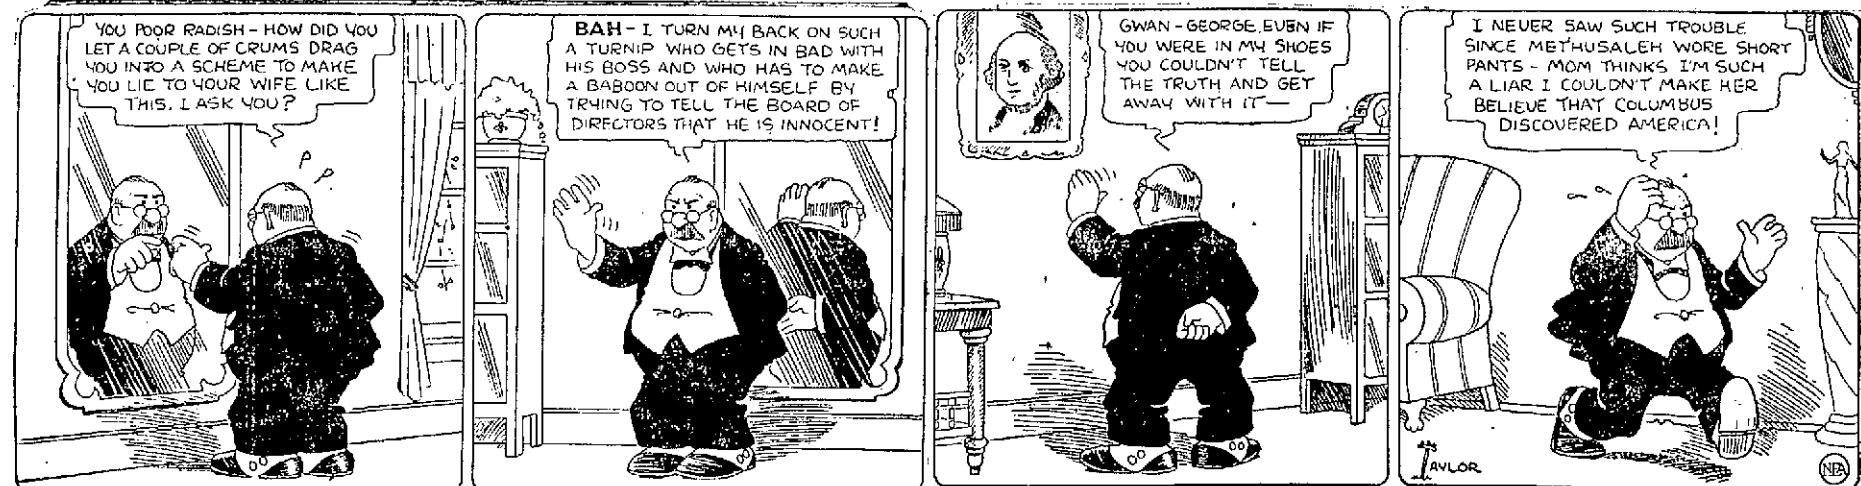

In labor circles regret was expressed that the United States will not participate in today's conference, as several matters are to be taken up which are considered as being of particular interest to American labor. Out of the 35 states which are members of the International Labor Bureau, 34 are expected to be represented at the conference. Each country sends four delegates, of whom two represent the government, one the workmen and one the employers.

The visit which Dr. Brauns, the German minister of labor, paid the International Labor bureau, has evoked special interest. It is regarded as a manifestation of German belief in the bureau, and possibly a move in the direction of eventual German membership in the League of Nations, which Ramsay MacDonald, the British premier, has been strongly advocating. It is thought here that Germany's entrance into the league is but a question of time; that it is bound to come with the settlement of the questions of reparations and security.

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

To the Honorable the Judges of the Probate Court in and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully represents Ermine Beauchene, of Lowell, in said County, and Rosaria Beauchene, his wife, that they are of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, and are desirous of adopting Bruce Wendell Dubois, of said Lowell, a child of Romeo Dubois, now deceased, and Marion Dubois, his wife, which said child was born in Oakland Beach, Rhode Island, on the twenty-first day of May, A.D. 1921. That your petitioners are of sufficient ability to bring up said child and to furnish him with suitable support and education; that the father of said child, the said Romeo Dubois, has willfully deserted and neglected to provide proper care and maintenance for said child since July, A.D. 1921, being more than two years past preceding the date of this petition; that the mother of said child, Marion Dubois, has consented to the adoption.

Wherefore they pray for leave to adopt said child, and that his name may be changed to that of Bruce Ermine Beauchene.

Dated this thirty-first day of May, A.D. 1924.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY REACH N. Y.

Ready for Week of Political Maneuvering Which Will Precede the National Convention—McAdoo Due Wednesday—Others Are En Route

NEW YORK, June 16—Democratic leaders from all parts of the country arrived in the city today, ready for the week of political maneuvering which will precede the national convention.

Cordell Hull of Tennessee, chairman of the democratic national committee; Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut; J. Bruce Kerner of Montana; Norman E. Mack of Buffalo; George White of Ohio, and Bert Ney, Indiana, are among the leaders already here, while Sentiment favoring the choice of Mr. Davis as the democratic standard bearer, or in the event of a deadlocked convention, was reported to be growing steadily. He was credited with the assured support of his native West Virginia and with growing strength in Ohio, Indiana, and Missouri, besides being the second choice of a considerable number of southern and western delegates.

Charles A. Grahame, secretary of the democratic national committee and will draft the party's platform. It was designed to make this, reports had it, a brief and quickly read document. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, already has been decided upon, is due in the city Wednesday.

It was said that Cummings would be given the convention's third biggest honor—the chairmanship of the important committee on resolutions, which

Three Women and Seven Men Held as Part of Gang In $3,000,000 Holdup

Detectives Have Information Which They Feel Will Guide Them to Buried Loot

CHICAGO, June 16—Three women and seven men are held as part of the gang which Thursday night, perpetrated a $3,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout, Ill., near here, and officers are seeking three additional men and the bandits' cache where they believe that about 40 bags of registered mail will be found intact. Morgan Collins, chief of police, admitted that an accurate check up on the contents of the stolen mail sacks revealed a loss in excess of $5,000,000, all in currency or negotiable securities, making it the largest robbery in the history of the railway mail service.

The chief pointed out that some of the pouches had been shipped originally from Wall street banks to the northwest, and in that connection it became known that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train held up had left Chicago 15 minutes late Thursday night, having been held for an important money shipment from the east.

The police believe that one or more of the seven men under arrest actually participated in the holdup.

J. H. Wayne, seriously wounded, and James Murray, former politician, were arrested hiding under Wayne's bed. The police say they are working on the theory that Wayne was shot by the bandit leader when he failed to carry out orders during the holdup, and that Murray had visited him in an effort to keep him from turning in former.

Chicago detectives indicated they thought they had information which would guide them today to where the loot is buried.

TRESPASSERS ON TRACK ARE FINED

Declaring that trespassing on railroad tracks running through the city must be discouraged, Judge Enright today fined Arthur Cafinier and Paul Versailles $15 each in district court. Both men were arrested by Seret.

REPORTS TO LEAGUE DRACUT BOYS ARE DROWNED

Jeremiah Smith of Boston, League Commission, Returns to Budapest

Christian and Herbert F. Gunther, Cousins, Meet Tragic Death at Wellfleet

Were in Party of Baraca Class Boys From Hillside Congregational Church

EXECUTIVES RETURN FROM CONVENTION

Christian Gunther, aged 21, and Herbert F. Gunther, aged 18, cousins of Dracut, were drowned yesterday morning at South Wellfleet, where they were visiting with other members of the Baraca class of the Hillside Congregational church, Dracut, at the summer cottage of their class president, Wendell Breck.

The accident occurred when the two Gunther boys, with Thomas Inch and Lawrence A. Litchfield, attempted to row a dory across a 100-yard stretch of water. The water was rough and a strong breeze was blowing, and the boys were evidently unused to handling a boat in salt water. When about half way across the stretch, the boat was capsized by the wind and waves and the four occupants were thrown into the water. Neither of the Gunther boys was able to swim and sank in about 12 feet of water. The other boys held onto the boat until rescued, by swimmers and life-savers.

They report an interesting rally, both days being filled with programs of current New England business interest and ample entertainment provided for delegates and guests.

Luncheon at noon, on Friday, officially opened the two-day convention. At 2 o'clock Earl J. Arnold, secretary of the Bristol, Conn., chamber of commerce, gave an address on "Building Community Goodwill." At three Edwin J. Niles, assistant secretary of the Springfield chamber body, described some of the problems met with by New England retailers today. E. H. McDonald, secretary of the Portland, Me., chamber, delivered an address on "Spending the Health Department Dollar" at the evening session of the convention.

Saturday, the morning topic for discussion was: "Is New England Slipping?" Rosece H. Goddard, secretary of Worcester chamber of Commerce, led the way and verbal fireworks followed, opinions varying as to the future prosperity of New England.

The remainder of the morning session Saturday was taken up with the election of new members, election of officers, listening to reports of past officers and committees and discussing amendments to the by laws.

Secretary Manager Wells, who was secretary-treasurer of the Commercial executives last year, declined re-election and was succeeded by Herbert S. Sherwood of Fall River. Charles E. Smith of Woonsocket is the new president.

NEWLY CONSTRUCTED BASILICA CONSECRATED

JERUSALEM, June 16—Cardinal Giorgi, assisted by the Patriarch of Jerusalem, two bishops and other members of the clergy, consecrated the newly constructed basilica of Agony at Gethsemane yesterday. The basilica was built by the Franciscans on the site of an ancient Byzantine church of the fourth century, the foundations of which were unearthed during the excavations for the new buildings.

GUNMEN KILL BILL BRENNAN AND FATAL WOUND STATE TROOPER

James Cullen, Shot in Neck as He Pursued Brennan's Assassins, Died Today—Slayers Fired at Brennan's Sister, Beat Policeman—Caught After Chase

NEW YORK, June 16.—The police are continuing their efforts today to determine the motive which caused two men to shoot to death William James (Bill) Brennan, heavyweight pugilist, in his cabaret, the Club Tia Juana, early yesterday. James Cullen, a State trooper and friend of Brennan, who was shot in the neck as he pursued the assassin, died early today.

The two men charged with the murder, Frank Bassi, 27 years old, and James Hughes, 31, will be arraigned in homicide court today. Both, according to the police, have criminal records. Bassi is a taxicab chauffeur, and Hughes is a pugilist, known in the ring as Terry O'Neill.

Bassi, the police say, has engaged in bootlegging and as a search of the cabaret revealed a barrel filled with empty whiskey bottles, it is thought by the authorities that a quarrel over bootlegging operations may have resulted in the murder. No attempt was made at robbery.

The killing occurred at 4:30 in the morning, when the cabaret was deserted, save for the waiters, Brennan, his sister, Shirley Sherman, who was employed there as an entertainer, and Cullen. One of the men, whom Miss Sherman identified later as Hughes, entered and asked Brennan to step into the hall for a moment. Brennan did so and almost immediately two shots were heard. Miss Sherman and Cullen rushed into the hallway, on the second floor, and found Brennan lying on the floor. The girl snatched at the coat of one of the men and as he broke away, he fired twice. One of the shots lodged in Cullen's neck and the other narrowly missed Miss Sherman. Brennan died while being carried to an ambulance.

The assassins gained their way to Broadway by smashing a glass door at the bottom of the stairway and, after knocking senseless a passing police lieutenant, held up an automobile, forcing the driver to dash up Broadway at top speed. They were captured two days later.

Starting his professional career in 1914, Brennan engaged in 121 ring battles, record books reveal. He gained the sobriquet of "Knockout Bill" by flattening his opponents in 66 of these contests.

The only men who knocked him out were Dempsey, Flipo and Mike but he also lost decisions to Johnson, Harry Grob, Miske and Battling Levinsky.

Brennan was born in County Mayo, Ireland, 31 years ago.

Flipo Ended Career

That bout really marked the end of Brennan's career, although he made one more appearance inside the ropes in November, when he was knocked out by Billy Miske in four rounds at Omaha, Neb.

Seek Man Who Fled From Tourist Camp Shortly After Body Was Found

MILWAUKEE, June 16—Every automobile highway in Wisconsin, north of Milwaukee, was patrolled today by sheriff's posse, seeking a man who fled from a tourist camp at Wittenberg shortly before the body of his bride of a week was found in a shallow grave. The man gave the name of George P. Cummings of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The driver of the car, John Wright, of 77 London street, and a third occupant of the machine, Frederick H. Crosby, of 119 Moore street, escaped with only minor bruises.

Wright was placed under arrest by Billerica police shortly after the accident and booked at the local police station on a charge of manslaughter. He was later released under bonds of $200. In district court this morning the case was called and ordered continued to July 6.

According to the accident report, Wright was driving towards this city at a moderate rate of speed. As he neared Vassar street, North Billerica, his vision was impeded by the light of an electric car. Suddenly he saw two bicycles without lights directly in the path of his machine and he swerved sharply to the left to avoid them, crashing into the post with such force that Hartley was thrown from the back seat against the pole.

A Catholic clergyman whose identity could not be learned, was on the electric car and hurried to the scene, where he administered the church rite, while Motorcyle Officer Daniel Lynch lighted the scene with a flashlight.

The ambulance arrived shortly afterwards and removed the victim to St. John's hospital, where it was found he was dead. An investigation of the accident was conducted by Billerica officers and Sgt. James J. Kennedy and Motorcyle Officers Lynch and Hartley.

Several hours later the farmer returned to the scene of the accident, saying he had reflected upon the tourist's excitement and the fact he was unaccompanied. Examination of a small mound revealed the body of Mrs. Cummings wrapped in an old army blanket, tied with rope and buried under two feet of earth. She had been killed by three blows on the head, apparently with a hatchet.

Mrs. Jessie Hartley of this city, two sons, William G. and Joseph Hartley of Lowell; two daughters, Mrs. G. Douglas Allen of Milwaukee, Md., and Mrs. Leroy E. Dutton of Chelmsford, and a brother, Thomas Hartley of Boston, were removed to Saunders' Funeral Home at 217 Appleton street. Funeral notice later.

Hartley is survived by his wife,

W. W. DENNETT OF MOREY SCHOOL SEEKS $850 IN BACK PAY

Brings Second Action Against City in Connection With His Fight to Be Reinstated as Master of Greenhalge Evening Grammar School

William W. Dennett, headmaster of the opinion filed by the justice, the will was denied and petition dismissed because of the unreasonable length of time which elapsed before it was begun.

John M. O'Donoghue, member of the law firm mentioned, said this morning that his firm had been retained by Mr. Dennett to reopen the case from this new angle and will attempt to secure for him pay for the evening sessions of the past two years. Papers had not been served at the city treasurer's office up to this afternoon, but will be served. It was said, either late today or early tomorrow.

PLATFORM SUGGESTIONS REACH GOV. SMITH

NEW YORK, June 16.—So many platform suggestions are pouring into the headquarters of Governor Smith that an informal committee of six persons to answer tabulate and turn over these letters to the state committee which has been formed, it was announced today. More than 20 letters are coming in each day, said Franklin D. Roosevelt, in charge of the governor's campaign. The topic uppermost in the minds of the writers is foreign relations, and next in importance is social welfare.

The suggestions are coming from all parts of the country, Mr. Roosevelt said, and many were from republicans.

TO CALL R. I. SENATE TO ORDER TOMORROW

NEW BEDFORD, June 16.—Lieut. Gov. Felix A. Toupin of Rhode Island, who is spending the day at the home of his bride here, announced today the senate would be called to order in that state tomorrow afternoon. He denied the senate is adjourned. Instead he declared the body was merely recessed from Friday to Tuesday, at which time the session will continue under date of Friday. The Lieutenant governor denied he had given up the battle Saturday afternoon, when the session filibuster of 23 hours was ended. He said the republicans sought to adjourn the session and it was not until after they left that he ordered the recess.

holders of the Boston & Maine railroad with regard to the Hampden rail road project. Codman sought to hold Fred C. Dunham and other directors of the Boston & Maine responsible for the amount of an advance of $24,000 to the Hampden railroad, which he claimed the directors never tried to collect.

The court ruled that there were no allegations in the bill which could support liability on the part of any of the defendants.

WOOD AGAINST WAGE CUTS

Head of American Woolen Co. Predicts Increased Orders for Mills

Outlook for Business Must Steadily Improve—Opposes Wage Reduction

SHAWSEEN VILLAGE, June 16.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., following a meeting of the company directors here today issued a statement in which he predicted increased orders for the mills and in which he declared himself as being opposed to a wage reduction.

He said: "The outlook for business must steadily improve as the political situation for a business administration advances. Of course there is a lagging down in the textile industry in conjunction with the general business hesitation, but I and my associates do not think the proper time to consider a reduction in wages."

"The demand for goods is here in this country, although it may be delayed in reaching the mills. The country's consumption must be tremendous and the result must show in renewed orders to the mills in due time."

"No true American at this time would wish to see any reduction of the general purchasing and consumption power of this country."

14 PERSONS DIE IN STORM

Tornadoes, Windstorms and Heavy Hail and Rain Hit the Northwest

Glad Valley, South Dakota, Virtually Wiped Out—Property Damage $100,000

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 16.—At least 14 persons are reported dead and more than a score injured as the result of tornadoes, wind storms and heavy hail and rain in the northwest Saturday night.

Eight persons were reported dead at Bijou Hills, Brule county, two at White Lake, Aurora county, one at Pierre and one at Bunt in South Dakota, while two men were reported swept into the Mississippi river at St. Paul. Glad Valley in Sibley county, South Dakota, was reported virtually wiped out when a tornado struck over a territory of 50 miles square and caused probably a score of injuries and property damage which may run over $100,000.

At Mitchell, four persons were injured, one perhaps fatally, and property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Narcotics Were Secreted in Handles of Five Thousand Scrubbing Brushes

Two Men Who Claimed Cases Containing Drugs Placed Under Arrest

NEW YORK, June 16.—Drugs valued at more than $2,000,000 were seized last Saturday on a truck coming off a pier at Hoboken, N. J. it became known today. H. D. Esterbrook, chief of the special agents of the treasury department, who conducted the raid, said the seizure uncovered one of the most elaborate schemes for smuggling narcotics into the United States.

The drugs were secreted in the handles of five thousand scrubbing brushes. The cases in which they arrived had been watched since the steamship President Roosevelt docked, June 9, Mr. Esterbrook said.

On Saturday the treasury agents saw two men claim the cases and load them on a truck, which was seized as it started off the pier. The men, who gave their names as Abraham Palowitz and Otto Anderson, both of New York, were arrested.

GREAT BRITAIN WARNS MEXICO

Considers Action Against Cummings a Grave Breach of International Courtesies

Threatens to Call Off Mission of Sir Thomas Hohler to Mexico

LONDON, June 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister MacDonald stated in the House of Commons today that the British government regarded the action of the Mexican government against Herbert C. Cummings, the British agent in Mexico, as a grave breach of international courtesies.

The premier said he had informed the Mexican government that in the event of its taking steps against Mr. Cummings in which Great Britain did not concur, the mission of Sir Thomas Hohler to Mexico would not be proceeded with.

The drugs were secreted in the handles of five thousand scrubbing brushes. The cases in which they arrived had been watched since the steamship President Roosevelt docked, June 9, Mr. Esterbrook said.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

The closing exercises of the Middlesex County Training school, North Chelmsford, were held Friday afternoon on the school green with a large number of relatives and friends of the graduates present.

Among the speakers of the afternoon were Hon. Alfred Cutting, Rev. Mr. Garrison, pastor of the North Chelmsford Congregational church, Dr. J. B. Farney, Rev. John J. Crane of St. John's church, North Chelmsford, and others.

Mr. Cutting assured the boys of the county's interest in them, not only while they were at school but all through life. He considered the boys on their fine showing and wished them success in all their undertakings.

Fr. Crane told the boys that obedience should always be the watchword of the boy, of the man and that obedience was the first requisite in boyhood, in manhood and in American citizenship.

The program was as follows:

Ancient Landmark Sold for a Song

Historic Marshall Tavern—relic of Colonial days, rich in fragrant memories of cherished associations in the realms of Lowell's "fine families" of the long ago, was sold for a song at auction last Saturday afternoon. Jacques Bolsover, local contractor, bid $400 and will be the new owner.

Bidders were few and far between, indeed, attendance at the widely-advertised auction of hours and valuable furnishing contents of relatively local historical values, was very small compared with similar auctions conducted on historic locations in Lowell and vicinity in former days.

Auctioneer J. J. Finnegan of Concord conducted the sale of the old tavern property and contents, the estate of the late Hannah M. Spaulding, made Bidding was slow on the ancient homestead that still stands, stained and weather-resisting as of old. The bidding showed no evidence that any historical organization or supporter of our institutions, cared to purchase the tavern and preserve it.

Auctioneer Finnegan obtained a bid of $400, after considerable effort. Last bid was under $100, after the auction visitors were turning aside to inspect household antique offerings, when a bid of $400 was made by Jacques Bolsover, well-known contractor and builder, of 43 Bolsover street. Mr. Bolsover called it a sale.

Mr. Bolsover is not prepared at this time to say what will be done with the tavern property. He has bought it for investment.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT REASSEMBLES TODAY

DIVORCEE ENDS HER LIFE

Mrs. Margara Martin, 22, Secretary to Morris Hillquit, Was Tired of Life

LONDON, June 16.—Parliament reassembled today after the Whitsuntide vacation with the prospect of long and arduous sessions and small probability that the government will carry out several legislative measures to which it is committed.

The chief debate this week will be on former Premier Baldwin's resolution giving effect to the imperial preference proposals of his government. This is likely to occupy Tuesday and Wednesday. The government ministers are meeting today to decide whether their bills shall be pressed for action.

Local Physician Fined in Narcotic Drugs Case

confined in a jail hospital and has been unable to discuss the case until today.

Attorney James E. O'Donnell represented Dr. Klinin in court today. The principal witnesses for the government were Agent Arthur Keating and Officer Frederick Cole of the state police, and Sergeants Michael Winn and Officers William Liston and Francis Moore of the local police, who arrested the defendants on May 27 last after securing evidence of narcotic violations.

Agent Keating, on the witness stand, testified to conducting an extensive investigation of alleged illegalities in the prescribing and distribution of narcotics in this city. Co-operating with the local authorities, he said, a three-weeks' campaign led to the arrest of the local doctor and the Lawrence couple. Several prescriptions, signed by Dr. Klinin and bearing his official registration number, were found on Mr. Buckley's person and in many Lowell drug stores. They had been cleverly altered and raised, most of them from 12 grains to 24 grains of morphine. It was discovered, said the witness, that the original prescription, written in Roman numerals XII, had been changed to read XXIV, or 24, an additional X being prefixed, and the final I altered to look like a V. Agent Keating's testimony was substantiated by State Officer Cole and by Sergeants Winn and Officers Liston and Moore.

Sergeant Winn stated that Dr. Klinin told him the Buckley's were patients of his. He admitted, said the sergeant, that he had prescribed narcotics for them under the name of Buckley, Anderson and Townsend. He is said to have admitted also that he bought twelve hypodermic needles in a local drug store for $1.50 and sold them for $5.

"The state is trying to wipe out the awful consequences of this drug," said Judge Enright in finding the physician guilty. "And I'm going to help them by imposing sentence commensurate with the offense."

The fine was paid.

O'Donnell & Sons.

LeGrand—LeGrand is president, and is awaiting executive approval of the mayor. It is the claim of the Simpson firm that neither the bids of the Indian Head nor the Nashoba company, are entitled to any consideration as they did not meet the requirements of the specifications strictly. The Simpson firm and the Jewett Construction Co. both made single bids and it is the contention of the Simpson company that only they are entitled to consideration.

Mr. Donnelly maintained that the Indian Head company is low bidder and that Nashoba is next lowest. He stated definitely that should the mayor approve the contract and the Indian Head company that prove unable to go ahead, either because of failure to provide the desired bond or for any other reason, he would award the contract to the Nashoba company as the next lowest bidder.

The Simpson company maintained that the Indian Head company would lose $2 a ton or thereabouts on every ton of road material supplied, adding that the company was probably unable to throw up the contract before performance of it was completed. Attorney O'Donnell invited the mayor's attention to the fact that the specifications as originally prepared by Mr. Keeney provided that the successful bidder should provide a bond equal to the amount involved in the contract. This was changed, he said, to read, "a bond satisfactory to the purchasing agent."

"Who changed that specification?" he asked Mr. Donnelly. "Is that pertinent?" asked Mr. Donnelly. "I don't feel that I should answer that."

Mr. Williams of the Simpson company stated that he had been bidding for construction contracts for the past 23 years and has never heretofore seen specifications changed by oral notice, denied receiving any oral notice, and claimed it is almost unheard of to award contracts on bids made in variance with the specifications. The mayor took the matter under advisement and would make no definite statement immediately after the meeting.

"KNOW NOTHING" PARTY RECALLED

Sectarian Issue Plays Leading Part in Maine G. O. P. Gubernatorial Fight

Sen. Brewster, Candidate for Governor, Would Bar State Funds for Sectarian Schools

PORLTAND, Me., June 16 (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)—For the first time since the days of the "Know Nothing" party, sectarian issues have played a conspicuous part in the campaign for the republican nomination for governor, which will be made at the state-wide primary elections today.

The candidates for the nominations are Frank G. Farrington of Augusta, president of the Maine senate, and Ralph O. Brewster of this city, a member of that body. They have been devoting all of their time to their campaigns for several months, and both at one time or another have visited nearly every section of the state.

Although candidates for a United States senator, four members of congress, a state auditor, members of the legislature and county officers will be nominated by the republican and democratic parties, interest in the gubernatorial contest has overshadowed all other contests.

Bar Funds for Sectarian Schools

Senator Brewster has based his campaign on his sponsorship of a proposed amendment to the state constitution, forbidding the appropriation of state fund for sectarian schools.

President Farrington has opposed the amendment proposed by Senator Brewster on the ground that it is too sweeping, in that it would prevent the granting of state aid to many academies in Maine which serve as free high schools in the sections where they are located.

But the merits of the avowed issue have received less attention than the religious prejudices and animosities that have been aroused during the campaign.

K.K.K. for Brewster

The Ku Klux Klan organization, which is reputed to have considerable strength in the state, has openly declared for Senator Brewster and, although he has disavowed inviting its support, the fact has created bitterness which may be carried into the state election in September, whenever may be nominated.

Former State Attorney General William R. Patterson of Augusta, is unopposed for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. In fact, the democrats have no contest, except for the nomination for representative to congress in the second district, the contestants being Bertrand G. McIntyre of Norway and Albert W. Plummer of Lisbon.

In the same district, the republicans also have a congressional contest. Representative Wallace H. White, Jr., of Lewiston, is opposed by Cyrus N.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

Blanchard of WINON, who became a candidate when he announced he would not seek a renomination and did not withdraw when Mr. White later decided to enter the primaries.

Senator Bert M. Fernald of Poland, who would like to serve another six years, faces two contestants, former Congressman Frank B. Gurney of Dover-Foxcroft, who contends that western Maine should not have both senators as residents, and Louis A. Jack of Lisbon.

Albert D. Hayford of Farmington, the incumbent, and Edwin J. Merrill of South Portland, are candidates for the republican nomination for state auditor.

Congressman Beedy, Nelson and Jersey will be renominated without opposition. The unopposed candidates for the democratic nominations in their districts are William M. Graham of Portland, assistant secretary of war in the Wilson administration, Leon O. Trebelle, mayor of Waterville, and Clinton C. Stevens of Bangor.

Fulton J. Redman of Ellsworth, will receive the democratic nomination for United States senator without a contest. Almon G. Hodgkins of Rumford, will be nominated by the democrats for state auditor.

ALUMNAE OF NORMAL SCHOOL HOLDS BANQUET

The Alumnae of the Lowell State Normal School was held at the school Saturday at which time members of the class of 1893, the first to be graduated from the school, were honored.

"The Pied Piper," the masque presented by the students of this year's classes on Friday, was repeated for the Alumnae.

Previous to the banquet the "Lambs" of '22 and the "Kids" of '23 gave three rousing cheers for the class of '93. Principal Clarence M. Weed then welcomed those present.

Among the speakers were Miss Laura A. Knott, member of the faculty of '93; Mrs. Atwood, a graduate of the class of '93; Mrs. Armstrong and Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of the local schools.

Among the members of the class of 1893 present were Mrs. Florence Parker Atwood, Mrs. Kathryn Jantzen O'Connor, Mrs. Gertrude Dacy Mara, Mrs. Alice Richards Jenkins, Mrs. Elizabeth Heyward Hildreth, Mrs. Agnes Colburn Allen, Miss Elizabeth Dane, Miss Mary Devine, Miss Ella Penn and John Barr.

The following alumnae officers were elected for the coming year: President, Gertrude Doherty; vice-president, Elizabeth Cummings; treasurer, Katherine Cornell; secretary, Katherine Farley; executive committee, Rose Cunningham, Katherine Moriarty, Helen Welch and Rita Killey.

Those in charge of the affair were as follows: President, Marie Dempsey; vice-president, Mary Flinn; treasurer, Margaret Garvey; secretary, Mary Killey; Executive committee, Irene Cotter, Irene Kline, Mary Egan, Mary Early and Katherine Patlow.

LOWELL OUTFITS IN BRIGADE INSPECTION

Lowell national guardsmen participated in annual June brigade inspection yesterday at Methuen. Battery B, 102nd Field Artillery, was commanded by Captain George J. Pineau; First battalion headquarters detachment and combat train were led by Lieutenant Ariston K. Brown. Headquarters battery and Battery C of Lawrence, participated in the inspection.

Brigadier General Richard K. Hale of the 61st Brigade, Field Artillery, was in command of the inspection ceremonies, assisted by the following staff: Colonel Ernest Redmond, 102nd Field Artillery; Captain Hodges, adjutant of the First battalion; Captain George Lawson, regimental adjutant of 102nd Field Artillery, and Lieutenant Philip Smith, 31st Artillery brigade.

A MARTYR PRIEST—REV. M. G. GILBRIDE

(By P. H. Jackson, Abington)
He lived for his God, meekly human
He walked in the way that is just
In all his career like a true man
He guarded his God-given trust.

None knew him in life but to love him.
Whenever, wherever the call
His faith in the Master above him
Proclaimed his true friendship for all.

In high chosen fields of endeavor
He wrought with ineffable will
He never turned backward and never Permitted his ardor to fail.

Ah! his was a heart of rare beauty
Serene though the danger was high,
Undaunted discharging his duty
He died as a martyr can die.

The prayers of the thousands appealing
Ascend to the great Throne above.
With none but the tenderest feeling
Of filial devotion and love.

May he who has passed from our vision
Receive the great gift of renown
From Him whose unchanging decision
Awards the perpetual crown.

ST. ANNE'S TROOP WINS SCOUT MEET

The Boy Scout rally held Saturday afternoon in the state armory was won by Troop 10 of St. Anne's church with Troop 17 of the Grace Universalist church second, Troop 6 of the Centralville M. E. church third, and Troop 1 of Dracut fourth.

The rally had been planned to be held on the South common but the place was changed to the armory owing to the heavy rain. Prior to the rally the scouts, headed by the Chinese scout bugle and drum corps of Boston and the drum corps of Troop 2 of Jamaica Plain, marched from Cardinal O'Connell parkway through the down-town streets to the armory. The armory program consisted of emergency carrying races, first aid, fire building without matches, signaling, and other scout duties.

Jack Daws Adventures. Chapter 20

Right in the main pathway of the big tent was a great mattress. And at one end of it stood several barrels. As soon as the circus dogs saw this they ran, one after the other, and jumped over the barrels and landed on the mattress. And all the time they were barking loudly.

Each time that every dog had made the jump another barrel was added. Finally one of the dogs missed the jump. He landed on top of a barrel, instead of clearing it, and he fell toward the ground. The dog man rushed out and caught him so he was not hurt. This dog stopped jumping.

The jumping lasted for some time, until only one dog was left. He was the best jumper of them all. Then the dog man told Jack to have Flip try the jump. "Oh, you'll have to take some of the barrels off," said Jack. So the pile was made smaller and Jack took Flip back a ways. (Continued.)

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT THREE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Pupils of St. Patrick's, St. Peter's and St. Michael's Receive Diplomas From Pastors of Respective Churches—Special Programs Are Features

Graduations in three of the local Catholic parishes were held yesterday at the church. Rev. D. J. Kelleher, Ph.D., V.F., pastor of the church, Rev. John J. Crane, P.P., of St. John's church, North Chelmsford, delivered the sermon.

At the 11 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church celebrated by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, the boys of St. Patrick's school, under the supervision of the Xavierian Brothers, and the girls directed by the Sisters of Notre Dame, received their diplomas from Rev. John J. McGarry, D.C.L., pastor of the church.

Following the conferring of honors, Dr. McGarry addressed the congregation mentioning the fact that so many young people were receiving recognition at the conclusion of their grammar course so diligently followed under the loving devotion of the religious communities of the parish.

In speaking to the graduates, Dr. McGarry urged them to continue their excellent work throughout their entire schooling and stated that they would go through life with the same fervent love of God, the same ideals before them and the loyalty and willingness shown by them while students of St. Patrick's parishioners.

The list of graduates:

Thomas Paul Dehanty, William Francis Welsh, Daniel Frederick Regan, John Edward Kelly, John O'Farrell, Peter Gwynn, Francis O'Conor, John Dehanty, Thomas Dorsey, Hugh Duffy, Edward Dunn, Paul W. Fawcett, Joseph Fox, George Foley, James J. Gagnon, Leo Gendreau, Joseph Guthrie, William J. Hornbrook, Alvin J. Kelly, John Kehoe, John L. Latta, Edward Mitchell, Thomas P. Mullin, Francis G. The other were: Mervyn B. D. Ward, Richard O'Malley, Charles Sullivan, James ONeill, Elias Mealey, Ernest Baron and Joseph Huwe.

ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

Rev. John J. Shaw presented the diplomas to the graduates of St. Michael's parish's parochial school at the exercises held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the church.

In speaking to the graduates, Fr. Shaw congratulated them for their splendid showing both in and out of class and urged them to continue their work in the spirit shown during their years at St. Michael's.

Rev. James F. Lynch also addressed the graduates, complimenting them for their excellent work during their schooling and especially in the past year, and wishing them the highest success in whatever work they undertake, whether in the furthering of their education or in the working world.

Following the presentation of graduation honors, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Shaw, assisted by Rev. Fr. Lynch and Rev. Fr. Heagney.

The graduates:

Raymond Brennan, Thomas Callary, Raymond Carrigan, Herbert Custer, Cornelius Coughlin, Walter Conlon, Thomas Farrell, Charles Hyde, Leon and Irvin, John Murphy, Brendon McGehee, Elizabeth Blakemore, Ruth Burns, Alice Carroll, Loretta Custer, Mildred Collins, Rose Clancy, Gertrude Connolly, Catherine Cryan, Gertrude Dorsey, Alice Gibson, Mary Gallagher, Rose Golden, Loretta Judge, Isobel Largay, Margaret Mitchell, Anna McNamee, Elizabeth Quinn, Helen Spaul, Mary Sullivan, Catherine Sullivan, Billa Walker, Margaret Watterson, Mary Wilkinson.

WHEEE! WHIRR! WENT THE BIG HORN

All the green woods people were dressed up in their Sunday best at Mister Coon's party.

It was a most fashionable party, and Nancy and Nick and the little fairymen were proud of the coon gentleman and his new radio set.

"Oh, yes, it was Mister Coon's new radio set that the party was about. Everybody had come to hear a concert."

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mister Coon importantly, putting up in the middle of the floor where a little square box with a big horn was sitting on a table, "I will now tune in. We shall hear a concert that is going on in New York."

Everybody clapped and Mister Coon bowed and then he pushed in some knobs and pulled out some knobs and turned a thingamabob.

"Wheee! Whirrr! Squeeeeeeec—rattle-rattle-rattle-want the sounds that came out of it."

"My goodness," said Mrs. Groundhog, "They do have queer voices in New York, don't they, Mrs. Groundhog?"

"It isn't just right yet," said Mister Coon. "The air isn't right."

"No, I'd say it wasn't exactly right," grinned Mister Bunny nudging Old Daddy Cracknuts. "I've heard a good many airs, but none exactly like that."

Mister Coon pulled out some more knobs and pushed in some other knobs and the little lights went blink, and suddenly there was a shriek like the 9 o'clock curfew whistle.

"Oh, oh, oh!" shrieked the green wood ladies, covering up their ears. "That must be grand opera! Such loud singing makes my deaf. Do they always sing that way in New York, Mister Coon?"

Mister Coon blushed. "There is something wrong," he explained nervously. "Somethin' it's a little hard to make it work right."

The Twins and the fairymen tried to help him fix things. "I think it's all right now," said Nick. "Try to get some other place, Mister Coon."

"I will tune in on Chicago," said Mister Coon, "and we will hear a better tune story."

"That's better," whispered Daddy Cracknuts. "It won't split our ear-drums."

So Mister Coon pulled another handle and instantly a voice came out of the horn, asying, "Once upon a time a little—squeee—squeee—squeee—squeee—roar—roar—Whirrr—woop—cooo!"

"My goodness!" exclaimed Grandma Frog. "I should think thid would wak' up all the babies this side of Cannibal Country."

"Yes, isn't it?" remarked Mrs. Chipmunk. "Oh, there! Listen, now!"

The voice in the horn went on: "And one day he went to school and—bang, whang, whang, roar, shriek!" It sounded like a symphony.

"My, my, I'd hate to send my child to that school," said Mrs. Groundhog. "It's very late and we'll have to be going," said Mrs. Bunny. "Good night, Mister Coon. "We've all had a nice time at your party." And out they went all of them.

But they hadn't any more than turned the corner when the radio set began to behave itself beautifully. The Twins and the fairymen stayed and heard ten pieces played by a circus band.

NAVY ROMANCE SHATTERED

The Navy "hop" at Annapolis, where many a romance blossoms, brought together Ella Beckman, 18, daughter of a U. S. Army colonel, and Robert D. Lowther, naval student. It was love at first sight, but annulment at second—for the beautiful girl is under 18 and he is under 21.

OPEN GOLF GRIND HARD

ON CHAMPION

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Cyril Walker is the smallest player to win the open golf championship since 1908 when half-pint Freddie McLeod straddled victory at the Myopia Hunt club. Walker is even smaller than McLeod.

The New Jersey professional weighed 117 pounds at the start of the championship. After he had run down the winning putt on the seventy-second green at Oakland Hills he weighed 116 pounds. In two days then, he dropped six pounds. That gives you an idea of the terrific strain the golfer faces in the $50,000 championship. A bigger man—a man of the Ted Ray type—would have dropped about twenty pounds.

Walker came through mainly because he was hitting his shots well and did not have to "funch" for his scores. He was not often in trouble, and the blustery weather gave him only a medium of trouble. Walker's game is built essentially on wrist action and the secret of playing in games such as existed at the Michigan course, is all wrist control.

This is one reason why a midge golfer was able to survive in a battle where stamina and endurance are all-important factors. Walker didn't, than a three-day test, something to do with this. While in an average year, Yuma, Ariz., only has 18 cloudy days

NEW YORK TEAMS AGAIN HEAD FIELD IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Giants Break Tie With Cubs by Driving Mays of Cincinnati From Box—Indians Block Path of Yankees—White Sox Move Into First Division

NEW YORK, June 16.—Cleveland, Washington to fifth place, as the only two games removed from the White Sox beat the Senators 6 to 4, first division, blocks the path of the Indians in their efforts to return home in first place, after a grueling trip through the west.

The first test of strength between the world's champions and the rising Indians resulted in an easy victory for Speaker's team which drove Shawkey from the box and won 10 to 3 yesterday as Shantz pitched effectively after the first inning. Myatt's home run with two on, accounted for three.

McQuillan, who went the route for three or four games to New York with a savage attack on three Red Sox pitchers for 21 hits and a 10 to 4 victory, Peleg made his 11th home run with ninth and Johnson his sixth.

Van Gilder and Welsh also hit for the circuit. Seven pitchers were maltreated.

The Giants broke their winless Chicago run and again took first place in the National by beating Cincinnati 4 to 1, driving Carl Mays from the box in his first appearance at the Polo Grounds since the 1922 world's series.

McQuillan, who went the route for three or four games to New York with a savage attack on three Red Sox pitchers for 21 hits and a 10 to 4 victory, Peleg made his 11th home run with ninth and Johnson his sixth.

The Indians returned the Tigers into the position of a contender, one game back of Boston and two behind the 12 Robin safeties off Dyer.

Chicago's advance carried the team into the first division and forced Philadelphia were not scheduled.

SILESIA TURNS TABLES ON GARDNER TEAM

Following a 6 to 4 defeat at the hands of Gardner, Saturday, the Silesia middle team of North Chelesford came back strong on home territory yesterday, won 10 to 3, and took the verdict by a 6-4 count. It took twelve innings to turn the trick, Gallagher tripling in the twelfth and romping home ahead of Bud Edd for a four-pitch smash. Noonan pitched good ball, having but one bad inning, the second, when Gardner scored three runs.

Walker Best "Wind Shot" Player

DETROIT, June 16.—Because Cyril Walker, midwest New Jersey professional, knows how to control a shot in a roistering gale, he is the new open golf champion of America.

Walker was born in England and spent his boyhood days caddying for Johnny Hall, Sandy Herd, Harold Hilton and other notables on the wind-swept, seaside courses, where every shot demands care, judgment and an advanced technique.

It is nothing to play a golf shot in a dead calm. It is quite another to play the same shot in the teeth of a howling wind.

On the day of championship finals at Oakland Hills the wind roared across the fairways with cyclonic fury. Simple iron shot lines became hard, testing wonder drives. Balls hit high into the air were waited for off the tee and carried deep into trouble.

Beating par was no longer the big idea. Beating the elements was much more important.

Weather Suited Walker.

This was the kind of weather Walker revelled in up to his sun-burned ears. It was English golf weather. Years ago, back on the homeland courses, Walker had mastered the art of playing with and against gales. It was no trick for him to keep the ball high, and sail with the wind, or keep it low and offset wind resistance.

Walker won the championship with a blazing iron shot to the sixteenth green in the afternoon round—one of the great shots of American golf, by the way. Only a few moments before, Walter Hagen, the American home bred, a heavy favorite to win, had tried the same shot and failed. This one episode told the whole story of Walker's triumph.

The sixteenth at Oakland Hills is a par 4 hole, 331 yards long, and on the day of the finals, with the wind blowing a gale directly in the face of the players, was the hardest hole on the course. A lake of considerable proportions faces the green. It is over this lake that the second shot must be played.

Hagen Couldn't Do It.

Hagen got off a tremendous drive under the circumstances, and was left with a full iron shot to the green 160 yards away. If he could plough through the wind and get home safely he would still be in the fight for the title. But the wind whipped him. His ball was short. It dropped into the lake and he was through.

Walker's drive was no better than Hagen's but just as good. Here he was facing the same test that had ruined the America star. If he got home the championship was his; if he failed it might go to Bill McHugh or Bob Jones, who were already in low scores.

Well, Walker didn't fail. His old driving and line nerve served him nobly. The ball carried strong and true and dropped him high nine feet from the hole. He had judged the wind perfectly and played the shot like a master. It won him the title.

GRIMES HARD TO DOUBLE-PLAY KINGS TELL HOW TO DO IT

By N.E.A. Service

BROOKLYN, June 16.—Burleigh Grimes won 21 games for Brooklyn in 1923. He was one of the dozen or so pitchers to get into the 20 figure class. Incidentally, he was the best gunner on the Robinson staff.

Grimes has been with the Dodgers six seasons. He came to the club from Pittsburgh in 1918. He was traded along with Ward and Mamaia to Stengel, Cutshaw and Cash. Grimes had previously been on the Pittsburgh roster two years.

Hagen Couldn't Do It.

Hagen got off a tremendous drive under the circumstances, and was left with a full iron shot to the green 160 yards away. If he could plough through the wind and get home safely he would still be in the fight for the title. But the wind whipped him. His ball was short. It dropped into the lake and he was through.

In the half dozen campaigns Grimes has toiled for the City of Churches he has hung up an enviable record.

In three of those seasons he turned in better than 20 victories, generally figuring as a good performance in these days of lively baseball and heavy hitting.

In another campaign he missed the coveted mark by one game; in still another he was only four hits shy.

Thus in five of six seasons with Brooklyn he has either hit or rained to hitting the 20-game standard.

Grimes had his best year in 1918, the season Brooklyn got the tall dad.

Grimes grabbed 19 victories against but nine defeats. In bringing the Dodgers their first pennant, he won 23 and lost 11. Brooklyn took two trays in the world series with Cleveland that fall. Grimes won one of them.

Well, Grimes with a one-two-three amalgamation of his hurling performance would be even more formidable. It would stand out to much better advantage. And he would doubtless rank pretty close to the top in the pitching averages.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By Dilly Evans

If you want the final decision on any baseball dispute, write Billy Evans, N.E.A. Service, 1200 W. Third St., Cleveland.

Answers.

1. How does the umpire determine the distance between the shoulder and the knee in calling a strike? Does he have an imaginary line to judge by? When a player crouches, how does he determine what is the proper height? —F. P. A.

2. When a foul ball is hit, must a base runner return to his base prior to the next pitch? —J. H. C.

3. If a batter is hit by a pitched ball, walks or sacrifices a runner, is he charged with a time at bat? —W. D.

Answers.

1. In judging the distance between the knee and shoulder, major league umpires always take into consideration the batter's stance. If a batter naturally lifts his shoulder when he stands in the box, the umpire regards the height of his shoulder when in a crouch position, as the proper line, rather than where it would be if he stood up straight. If in a pinch a player purposely crouches with a hope of deceiving the umpire, the official renders his decision based on the batter's height if he had stood in his usual position at the plate.

2. The base runner is supposed to return. Often the umpire starts play when he is a few feet away in an effort to hurry matters. The umpire after a foul never should start play until the runners are satisfactorily placed.

3. In the three cases cited, the batsman is not charged with a time at bat.

CLAIMS MARBERRY IS SECOND JOHNSON

USING THE RIGHT CLUB IMPORTANT

By JOE WILLIAMS

It is one thing to know how to play a golf shot. It is another to know what club to play it with. This may not be as silly as it sounds. The one is a matter of mechanics, the other of judgment.

And in matters of judgment, the golfing mind is not always errorproof. Whether a shot should be played with mashie niblick or mashie, brassie or full iron frequently forms a problem requiring more than momentary thought.

The stronger club may send you too far short. And the element of doubt creates almost sure to play hob with your concentration, with the result that a bad shot is inevitable.

We saw a splendid example of what would happen if clubs will do for an ordinary player's game at Inverness, several years ago.

J. K. Wadley, a lumberman from the southwest, played a roisterous round with Jim Barnes, the noted professional, the day before the open championship started.

Wadley is an 88 player, or thereabouts. This day he was hitting his shots fairly well, and undoubtedly would have scored decently with Barnes' help. But he had Barnes' help, and that is it sometimes when perfect judgment was needed most.

This was in the selection of clubs on second and third shots to the green. Whenever there was any doubt Barnes made the decision and his decisions naturally were always pretty good.

Well, the result was Wadley gave the stiff Inverness par a terrible battle. Instead of his customary 88, Wadley was closer to 78, due to some excellent shots of his own, but mainly to Barnes' expert advice.

This incident does not exactly point a moral but it at least shows that hitting the ball perfectly is only one part of the game.

The most remarkable thing about the uprising of the Red Sox is that no bright young reporter has yet referred to Lee Foulke as a miracle man.

Further proof that a business depression exists is to be seen in the fact that Peggy Joyce's newest husband is not a millionaire.

Chicago's young intellectual murmur suspects Chink golf is a silly game. This observation is bound to win them a lot of sympathy.

No one ever heard of a 100-yard dash star getting sore because he was called a Chink.

The National Cheese Association will hold its convention in July and of course, Mike McNamee, champion of the light cheeses, will be among those present.

Despite the fact that Bill Tilden has throat trouble he is still the talk of the tennis world.

After waiting 137 years the Derby family finally put over a winner in England's big horse race. Maybe Joe Beckett still has chance.

In this great, noble country every boy has a chance to be president, but, happily, it isn't compulsory.

Radio industry in this country numbers about 250,000 persons connected with it.

Afternoon, constituted the longest session Mr. Coolidge has been absent from the capital since he entered the White House last August. He and Mrs. Coolidge were accompanied by several friends, including Frank W. Mondell, permanent chairman of the republican national convention and chairman of the committee which will nominate the president of his nomination.

COOLIDGES RETURN FROM WEEK-END CRUISE

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President and Mrs. Coolidge returned today from a week-end cruise aboard the Mayflower which took them down the Potomac river to the upper reaches of the Chesapeake bay.

The cruise which began Saturday

green in the afternoon round—one of the great shots of American golf, by the way. Only a few moments before, Walter Hagen, the American home bred, a heavy favorite to win, had tried the same shot and failed. This one episode told the whole story of Walker's triumph.

The sixteenth at Oakland Hills is a par 4 hole, 331 yards long, and on the day of the finals, with the wind blowing a gale directly in the face of the players, was the hardest hole on the course. A lake of considerable proportions faces the green. It is over this lake that the second shot must be played.

Hagen Couldn't Do It.

Hagen got off a tremendous drive under the circumstances, and was left with a full iron shot to the green 160 yards away. If he could plough through the wind and get home safely he would still be in the fight for the title. But the wind whipped him. His ball was short. It dropped into the lake and he was through.

In the half dozen campaigns Grimes has toiled for the City of Churches he has hung up an enviable record.

In three of those seasons he turned in better than 20 victories, generally figuring as a good performance in these days of lively baseball and heavy hitting.

In another campaign he missed the coveted mark by one game; in still another he was only four hits shy.

Thus in five of six seasons with Brooklyn he has either hit or rained to hitting the 20-game standard.

Grimes had his best year in 1918, the season Brooklyn got the tall dad.

Grimes grabbed 19 victories against but nine defeats. In bringing the Dodgers their first pennant, he won 23 and lost 11. Brooklyn took two trays in the world series with Cleveland that fall. Grimes won one of them.

Well, Grimes with a one-two-three amalgamation of his hurling performance would be even more formidable. It would stand out to much better advantage. And he would doubtless rank pretty close to the top in the pitching averages.

Rev. R. W. Sockman Takes Issue With Pres. Butler at B. U. Commencement

Reports of His Retirement Because of Break With Butler at Convention Denied

Pres. Coolidge Brings About Reconciliation After Earing Both Sides

WASHINGTON, June 16.—C. Basson, secretary to President Coolidge, announced in a formal statement today before leaving for Cincinnati, that he had not resigned his present position and would continue actively to be associated in the republican national campaign.

The formal statement was issued because of persistent reports of the likelihood of Mr. Slem's retirement owing to the open disagreement between him and William M. Butler, the Coolidge campaign manager, during the convention last week at Cleveland.

The disagreement between Mr. Slem and others on the one hand and Mr. Butler, Frank W. Stearns and their supporters on the other, was generally noticeable after the adjournment of the convention, but President Coolidge, after hearing both sides, was able to bring about a reconciliation of views.

17 KILLED IN AUTOS IN STATE LAST WEEK

BOSTON, June 16.—Seventeen persons—eight adults and nine children—were killed in automobile accidents in Massachusetts last week, according to the weekly figures from the office of the registrar of motor vehicles. This is four more than were killed the preceding week.

The number of persons convicted for operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor increased by 88, an increase of 22 over the week before, and the number of licenses and registrations suspended or revoked was 257, an increase of 59. On the 58 convictions for operating while under the influence of liquor, 72 were in the lower courts and 16 in superior court. Five persons were committed to jail—three from the lower courts and two from the superior.

Three of the persons convicted in the lower courts for operating under the influence of liquor were charged with second offenses, in which the law requires jail sentences. Two of them were given jail sentences and appealed, and one was committed to jail.

ALIENISTS CONTINUE TESTS OF SLAYERS

HUGHES, GILLET AND STONE AT AMHERST

CHICAGO, June 16.—Alienists for the defense today continued their tests on Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, in their effort to find the reason for the kidnapping and killing of Robert Frank by the two millionaires.

The examinations are under the direction of Dr. Karl M. Bowman, of Boston. Defense counsel are particular in stating that no great array of alienists will be used, just because the indicted youths' fathers have millions. Dr. Bowman, it is indicated, will do all of the explaining before the jury and not more than six others are expected to be used as witnesses in support of his findings.

CONFESSED NEGRO WIFE SLAYER SENTENCED

CHAIRMAN BUTLER PLANS CAMPAIGN

BLOCK PLANS FOR PROTECTIVE UNION

SPRINGFIELD, June 16.—Though the result of the experiment will not be known until some of the Gordon balloons come to earth, attempts to communicate with them by radio were made last night from the Springfield broadcasting station of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. WBZ and these attempts will be renewed tonight. Because none of the racing balloons had transmitting apparatus, the attempt is limited to the effort to send messages that shall be received by the apparatus carried by some of the balloons. It is understood that the three American balloons are so equipped.

Messages will be broadcasted from station WBZ between 9 and 10:30 o'clock tonight, daylight saving time.

SECOND DEATH IN AUTO CRASH

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 16.—Accumulation of stock and buying orders turned stock prices lower at the opening of today's market, but gains generally were limited to moderate gains. American Car & Foundry, however, jumped two points and Davison Chemical moved up a point. Several new 1924 high records were established, including Chicago & Northwestern and Public Service of New Jersey.

Bullish operations were conducted in a few stocks in the early dealings. General Electric assumed leadership of the market, soaring 5½ points to 234, a new high record for the year, on favorable reports regarding the company's operations. Public Service forged ahead, American Water Works and West Penn Power manifesting strength. Selling pressure was lifted from the oil shares, and there was further accumulation of low priced rails, western Pacific advancing into new high ground. May department stores, with a two-point gain, had the merchandise issues higher. Baldwin moving up about a point, made the best showing of the customary market leaders, and Colorado Fuel advanced 1½ points. Foreign exchanges opened higher and then closed off.

The upward movement showed more vitality in the afternoon, new groups spurring upwards as buying orders were executed, especially the copper, shipping, steel, food and local traction issues. Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Nickel Plate were among the standard railroad shares that broke into new high territory for the year.

The closing was weak. Motors led the advance in the final hour with marked strength also being shown by a number of specialties. American Bank Note soaring ten points to a new 1924 high.

MONDAY MARKET
